Yesterday a child came out to wonder Caught a dragon fly inside a jar
Fearful when the skies were full of thunder
And tearful at the falling of a star.

No one has to tell a baby to explore. He just naturally wants to get out and see, search, find out what this great big, weird world holds. Will he still feel that way by the time he gets to high school?

"I am looking forward to high school, sort of.
I don't think I will learn anything, I think it will be review."

"I also have a great feeling because when you are working on a hard paper and when you finish you feel so good."

"Learning is closely related to education, at least I think so."

"Learning is fun when you understand it."

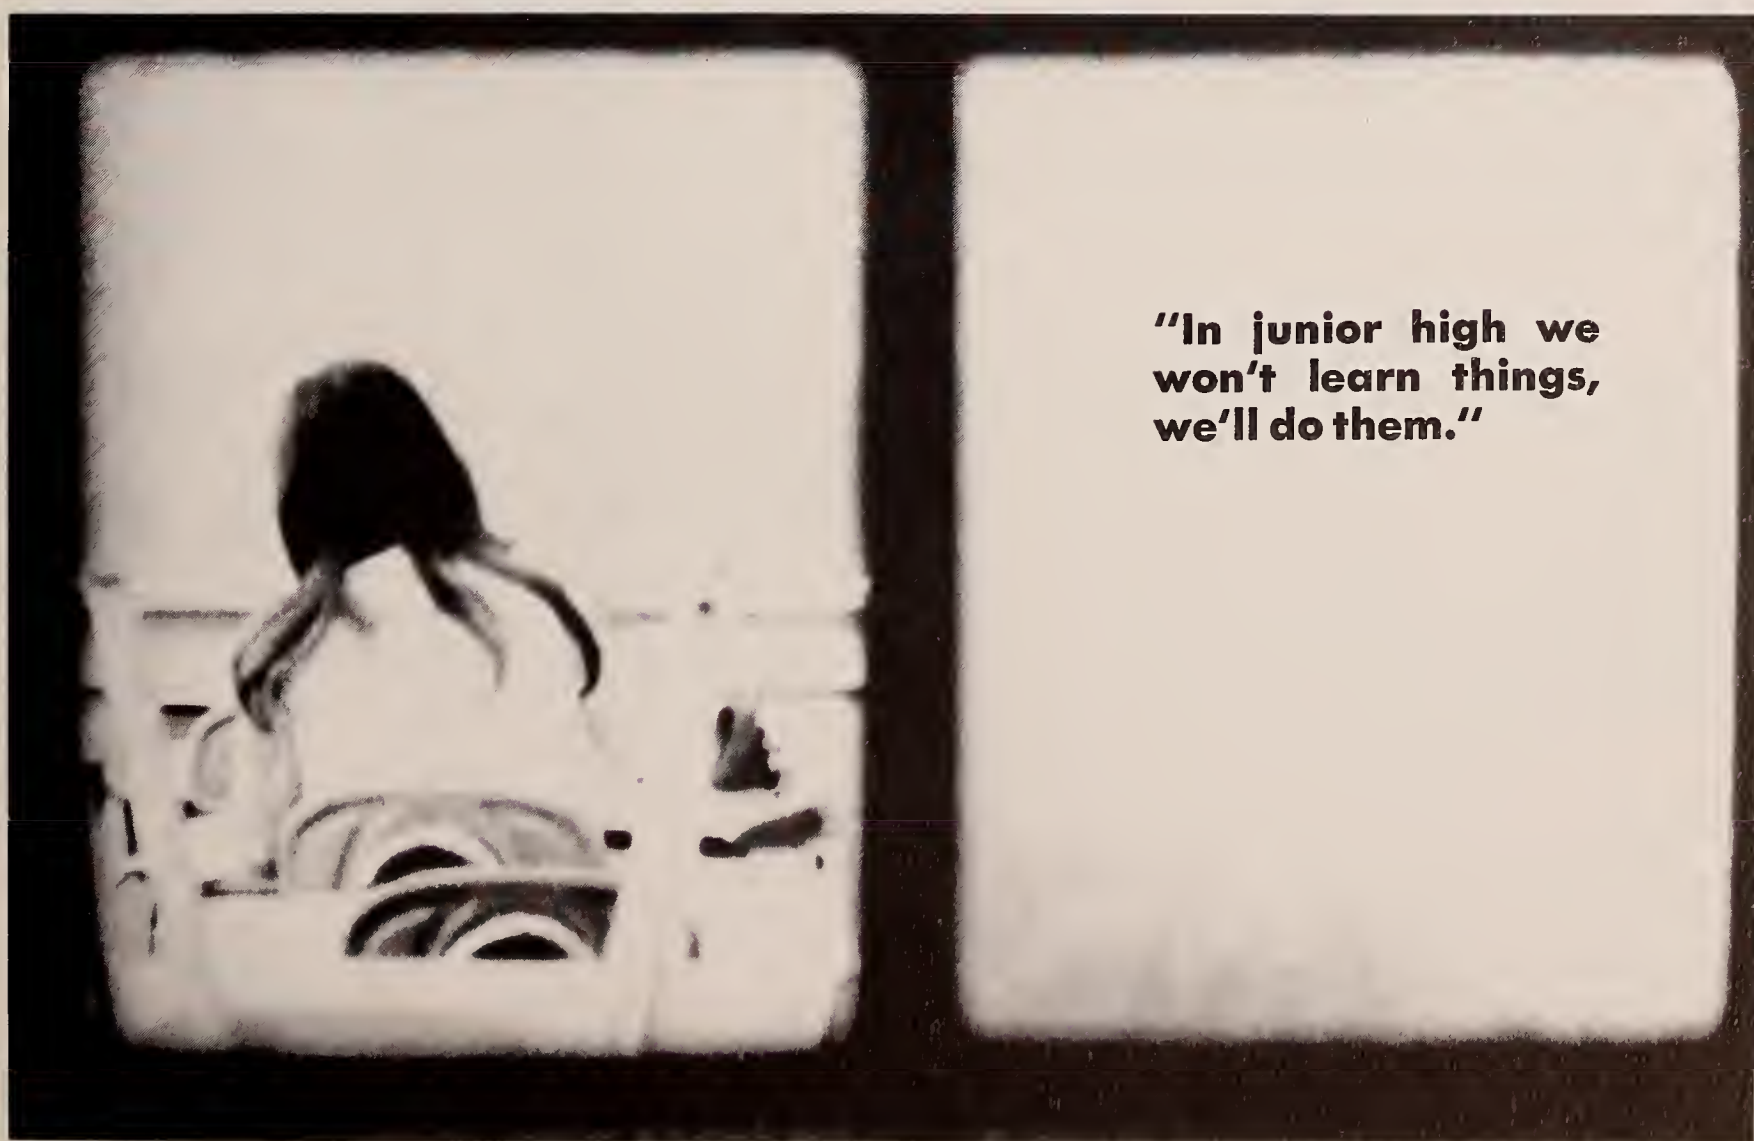

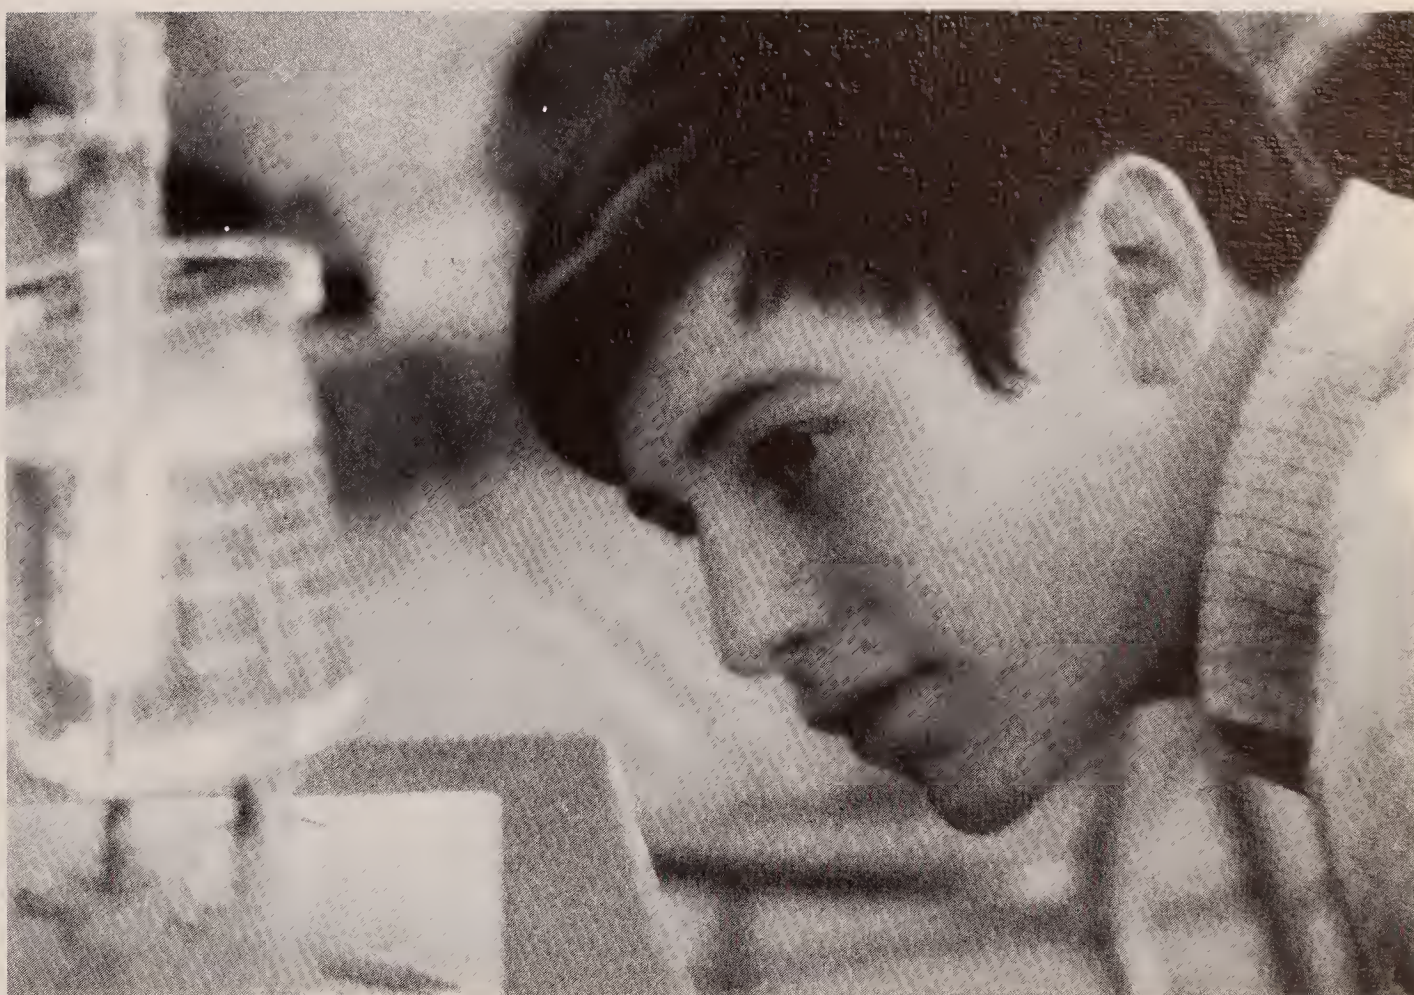

"I worry a little about high school. It will be better if I don't worry about the future."

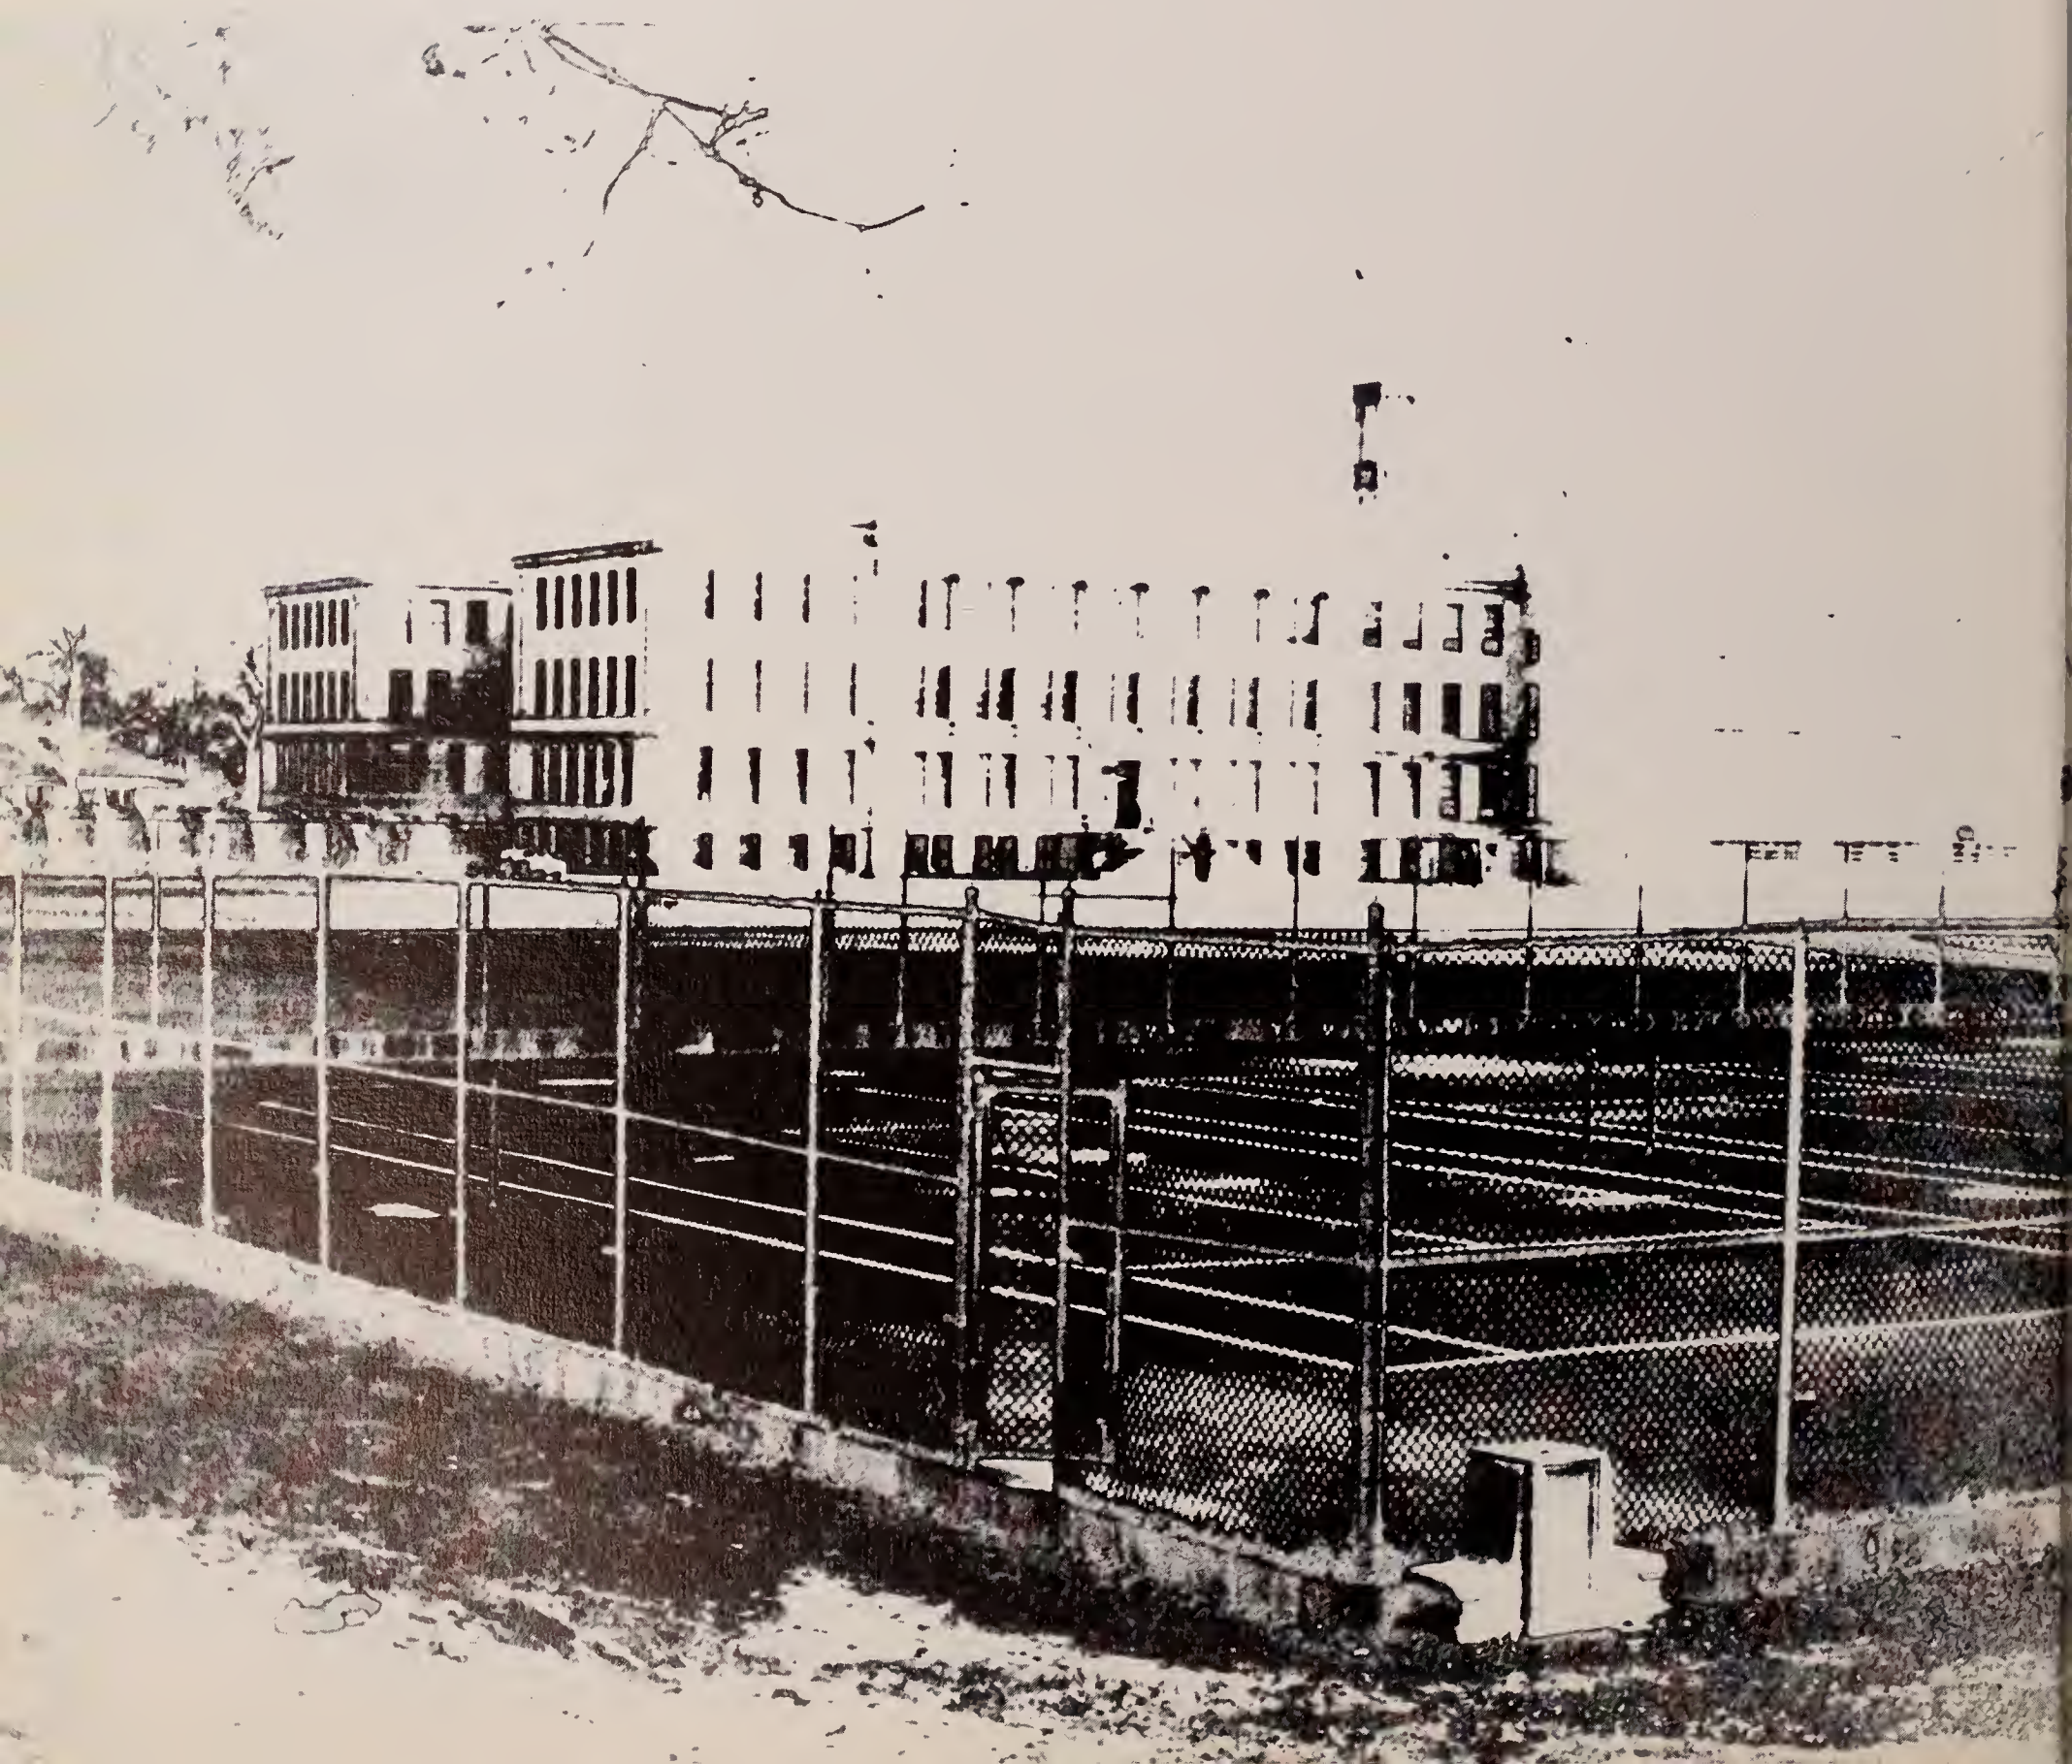

"It's hard because sometimes I have to work and work and sometimes I think I'll never finish."

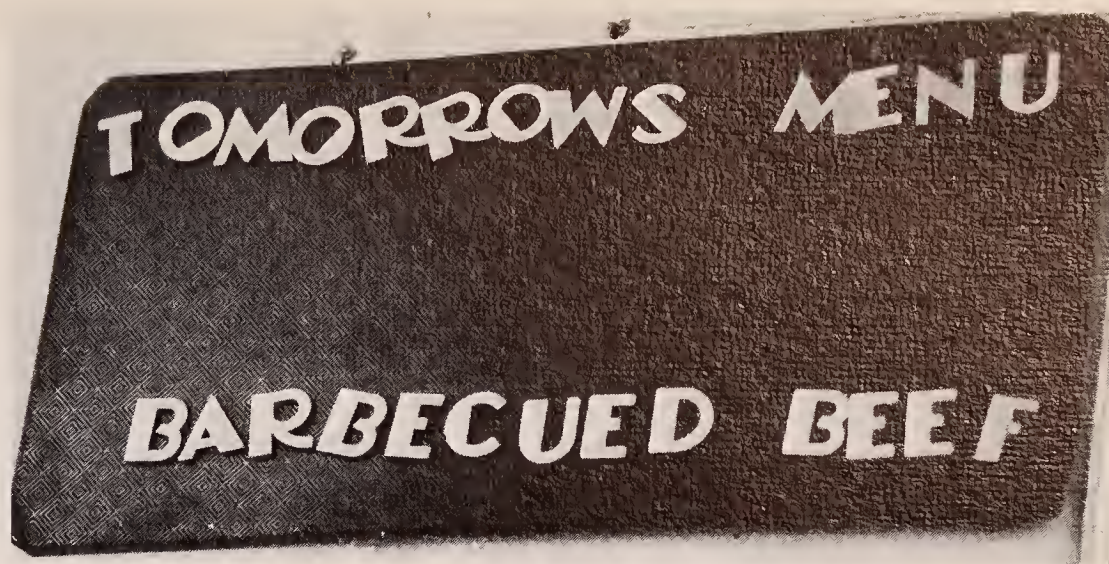

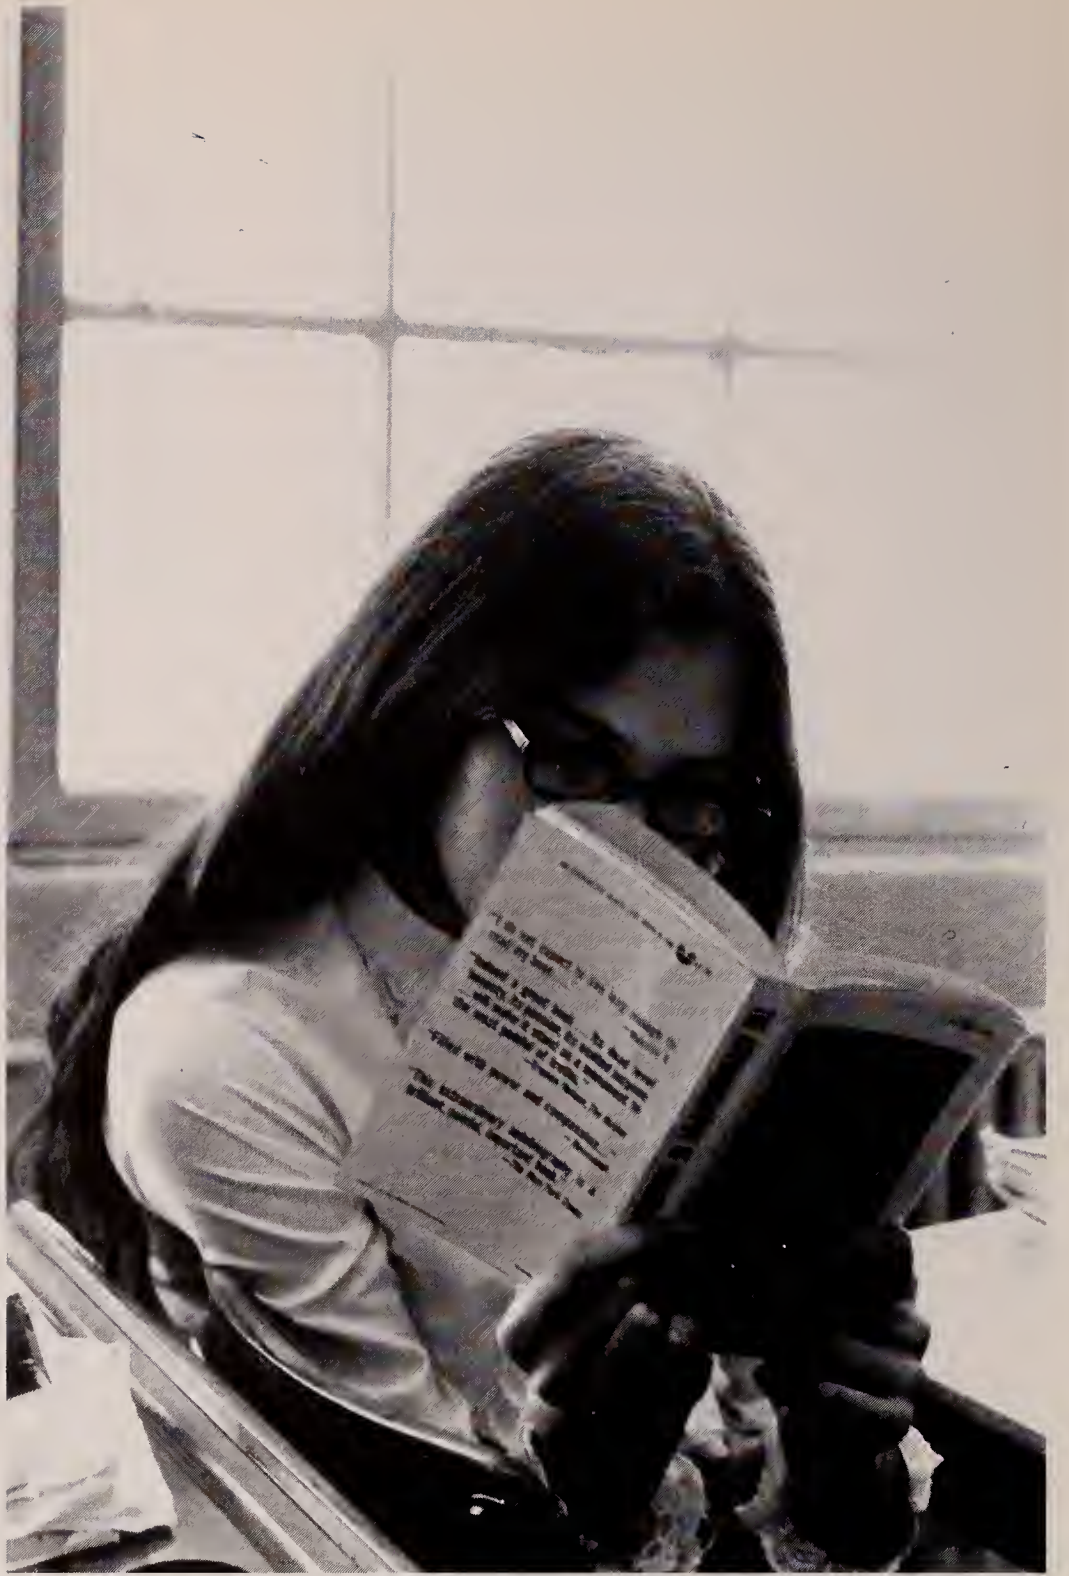

Why do we place children in groups according to their ages? Different children's talents and awareness of their world don't grow at the same rate. Maybe the grade system doesn't give some children all the sunlight they need to grow, when they need it. Maybe it blinds other children with too much sunlight, too soon.

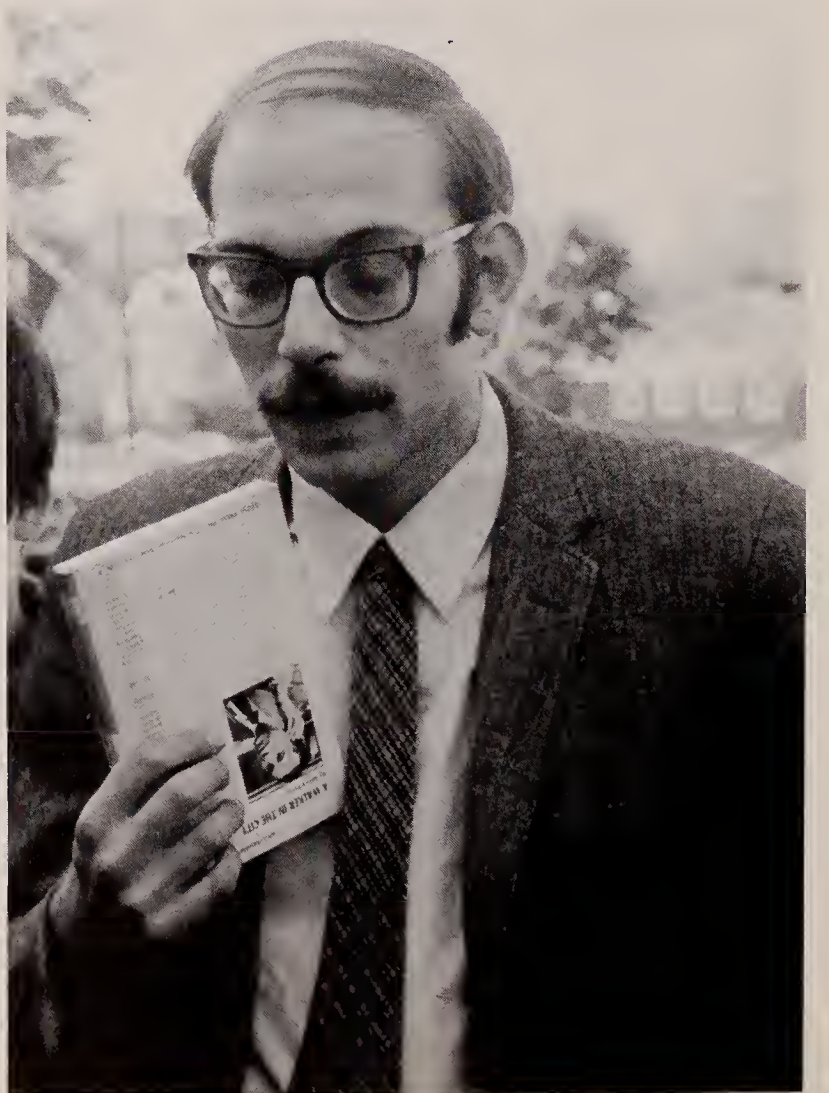

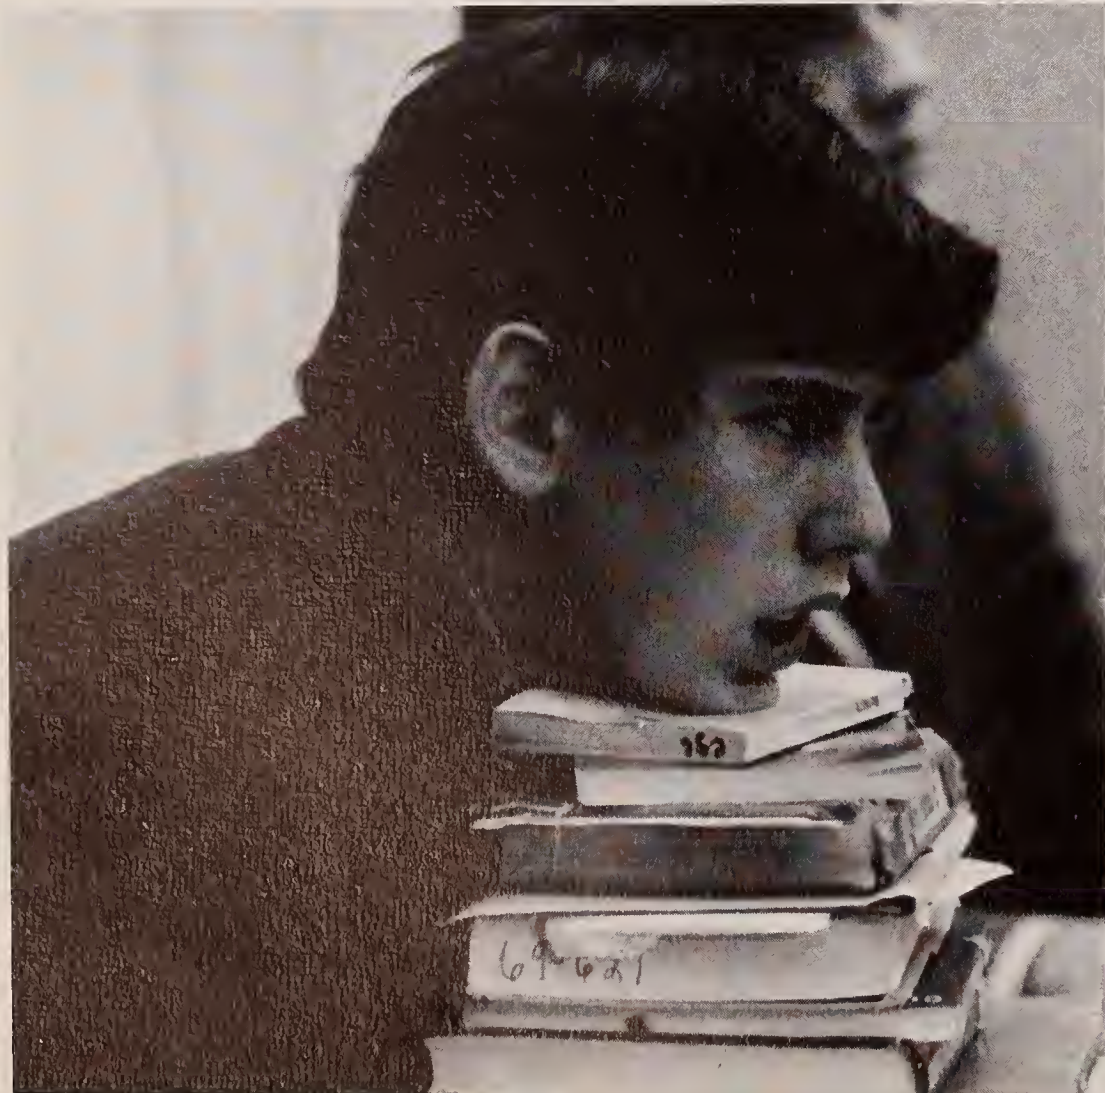

What makes us come here? Is it the pressures, the threats, the diploma? Could it be that we want to come?

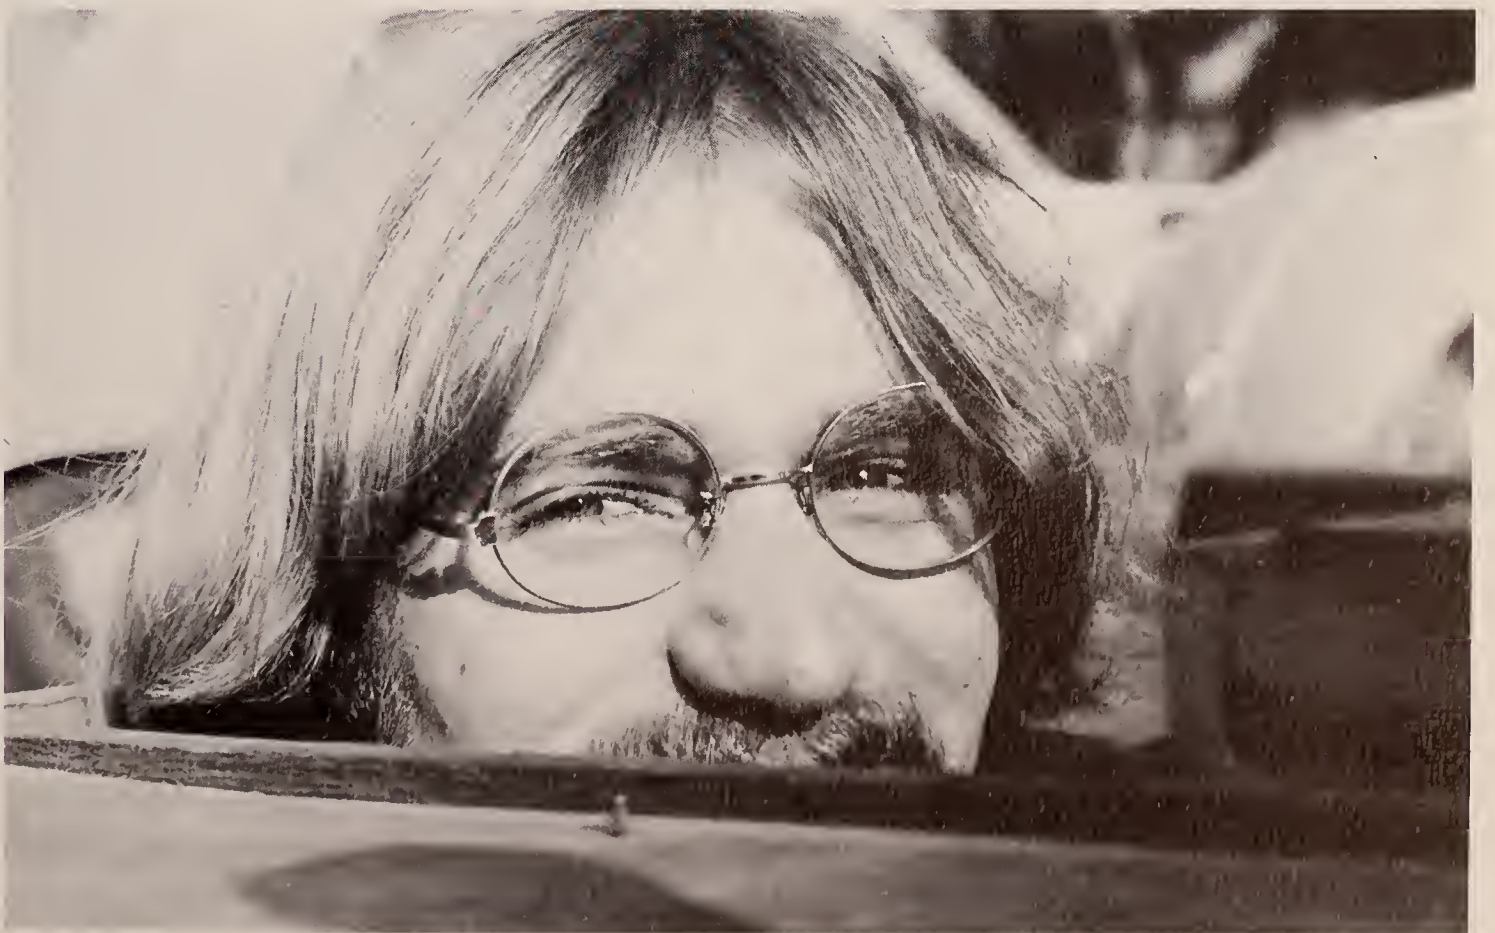

"Why is Shakespeare such a high school institution, anyway?"

"I have never let my schooling interfere with my education."—
Mark Twain

"If we can all believe in the way education is happening, then it's a joy..."

... but usually it hurts."

"School is a hiding place."

Growing is something we can't control, so it can hurt. Sometimes we don't know if we should give up the sureness of what has been for the unknown to come. We could lose so much by opening ourselves to change...

... But we could also find new sunlight, new peace.

And there are the times of smiles and laughter. We can forget the growing pains and just explore feeling.

"The true test of intelligence is not how much we know how to do, but how we behave when we don't know what to do."

"Sometimes I feel distorted."

"The job of the teacher is to help a person find out what's already in him, rather than to reinforce him or shape or teach him into a pre-arranged form, which someone else has decided upon in advance."
—Abraham H. Maslow

What waits for us on the other side of that diploma?

We pass the stage of threats that hold us from ourselves that nail us to the ground and keep us from the sky.
And when we pass
the youthful play
our nails release us—only to find
we can fly alone

I am a teacher. My God, I'm a teacher! Where did I ever get the notion that I could be a teacher, that I had something to say, something to pass on to make them better? What fleeting inflation of my ego brought me to this station in life?

I was sure I knew the answers once. But I have learned much at Newton High, and learned above all that I will never know enough, that there are no absolutes in education, that I will never stop learning. But the learning is so painful. Why have I allowed myself to become enslaved by the system?

How did I become imprisoned by self-deception, and why am I now a keeper of other prisoners, my students?

They need so much that I cannot give them. They need . . . let me see, what do they need? Oh yes, the tools with which to make a living. They need recognition, and response. They need ego building. They need to get into college so they can make more money. They need good food, good parents, dental care, fun and relaxation. They need love. But there are so many of them and there is only one of me. How can I begin to give them what they need? But as long as I can remember the questions, maybe I don't need answers.

Because each of us is an individual, we each need different stimuli to help us learn and grow. Some individuals are able to grow better in a structured learning environment in which the goals and the means for obtaining them are clearly defined. Maybe for some, this is a result of being told what to do for the first nine years of school. Others need more freedom to grow.

Newton High has already recognized the need for different stimuli to some extent by providing a greater variety of elective courses than many other high schools. However, two students may sign up for the same subject and end up in two classes which are taught in very different ways. A student in one class may be able to learn better in the environment of the other class. Is it possible for not only the subject, but also the method of teaching, for each elective that is presented in more than one way, to be described so that the student can choose?

Many teachers are working to make the programming system more flexible. Teachers often see the inadequacies of the system better than we think. Some teachers are very sensitive to students' feelings of being imprisoned, trapped, or powerless. These teachers don't want us to listen to them because good citizens must learn to respect authority, but because we might find just one insight, one day, that would help us see ourselves a little more clearly. These teachers don't want N.H.S. to be a dead institution for the passing on of middle class values and worn-out clichés, or a machine that turns mixed-up teenagers into the kind of adults that society will accept. They don't want to mold us to fit what people think we "should" be. They want to help us find what is already in us. Somewhere.

It was in the summer. We were free and easy spirits. Pressure was not a known experience. It belonged to another season, another mood. Our minds laughed and our feet giggled as we challenged each other, trying to skip down the brook as far as we dared go, jumping from stepping stone to stepping stone. Far be it from me to mention that the distance between the stones kept getting greater and that their foundations decreased in stability as we proceeded. I may be a girl, but I'm not acknowledging any inferior dexterity. Then we came to a large break in the chain of stepping stones. The only accessible footing was a wobbly clump of roots. May I emphasize the word wobbly? I doubted it could have supported a fat butterfly. My friend nimbly jumped to it, turned, and waited for me to jump. That was the last thing I wanted to do. Being a little on the clumsy side, and lacking all self-confidence, I knew I'd end up in the brook. I hate being embarrassed and I didn't relish looking like a fool draped in river weeds. I was NOT going to proceed.

Then I looked at my friend with outstretched arms, ready to help. I knew that once we got past that spot we'd be able to go on for a long while down the brook. But it wasn't the intrigue of new possibilities that finally persuaded me to try it. It was the knowledge that my friend wasn't going to laugh at me or mock me if I landed in the water. I had no reason to fear failure. I knew this because my friend cared about me. He had made it across, and he believed that I could too. So, amid cries of encouragement, I took my death-defying leap. I made it. There was a feeling of relief and accomplishment, even at so small a feat. I was really glad I'd tried, though I know I never would have if it had only been up to me. And we continued.

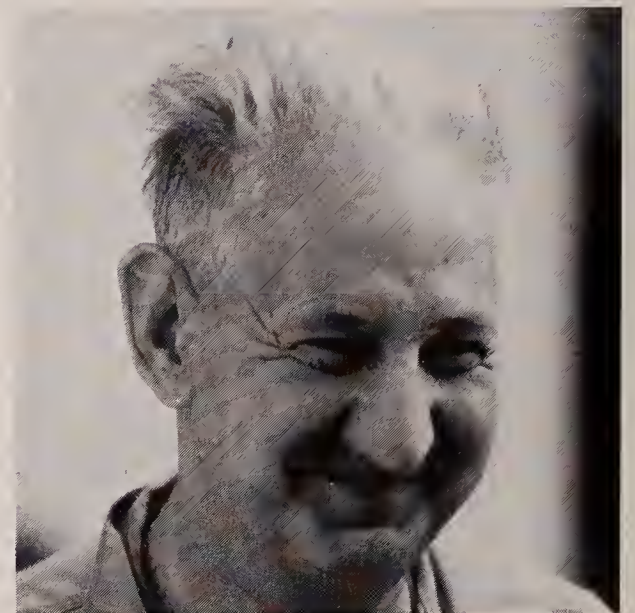

It wasn't until a while after that I saw what that small instance had in it: the essence of why and how people learn. We learn things every day from friends and the world around us. We are curious beings, so this desire to find out is not easily stifled or lost, except when we fear failure. Embarrassment and self-consciousness inhibits all of us from doing things. So when failing means looking silly or playing the role of "fool," we stay clear of any chance of failure. Once a teacher rejects our contribution to a class discussion, we hesitate to raise our hand again. It is WE who are wrong, as people, not our answer.

But when doesn't failure imply stupidity and a wrong response suggest inability? It doesn't when we know that we're going to be respected and accepted in spite of, and sometimes because of our mistakes. This assurance is only possible when we know that we are cared for, when we know and respect the person who wants to let us in on some of the truth he's found for himself. The way people learn is through trusting someone else's ideas enough to try. (I had no personal desire to jump to that root, but someone I loved and trusted had tried it, and found some worth in it.) When someone you care for, and share feelings of trust and respect with, shows you something you might benefit from, you are willing to try because you are not afraid of failing. You're not afraid that he'll laugh at you. People learn because of a natural desire, through the aid and encouragement of someone they know well enough to respect.

We at N.H.S. are prohibited from experiencing this pure way of learning much of the time. The classes are so large and impersonal that there is little chance for most of us to get to know teachers or classmates. If you don't know your teacher, how can you trust and respect him? If you don't respect him, why should you risk failure by trying something new? Learning stops. . .

Why can't N.H.S. be a collection of smaller communities, each with its own teachers, students and rooms? N.H.S. could then give us more of a chance to open our eyes, to really see what others are, and understand why.

We have enough faculty and students who care. Is it just that we have gone so long in a tight cold world, that we just aren't willing to make the jump to that shaky and untested clump of roots?

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate grew from the need for equal and effective representation of Newton High students.

When the C.S.P.E. (Committee for Student Participation in Education) was born, early in the fall of '68, students were concerned that there was no channel through which meaningful and responsible change could come about, where students could take an active part in their own education.

The Student Council was concerned with bake sales and dances, the Class Committee with class projects.

They were not really representative of the diverse groups in the student body. They were, for the most part, ineffective, always combatting the general disinterest in student government projects.

Maybe if there were a council whose purpose was to solve the problems of students, a council concerned with curriculum review, dress code, exchange programs with the Technical School, etc., a council with a genuine interest in the condition of the school, progress would be made.

Through the winter and into the spring, Barry Sheingold ('70) and Alex Quinn ('71), leaders of the C.S.P.E. and the Colloquium, with Stuart Goldman, Vice President of the Student Council ('69) and the co-operation of the Administration, Faculty Senate and Class Committees, worked to create the STUDENT SENATE. A decision was made to abolish the Student Council but retain the Class Committees as organizers of social activities. While representatives to the Junior and Senior Class Committees were elected in the homerooms, the Senate representatives were to be elected in their English classes, providing a greater cross-section of people and ideas, to try to insure that everyone would be well-spoken for. Representatives were to be elected in the fall, and the officers for both bodies in the spring.

A forum was held by the C.S.P.E. and the retiring Student Council in an effort to confront candidates with issues, to elect candidates not for their names and smiling faces but for their ideas and potential as leaders. The primary and final elections were colored by all sorts of campaign paraphernalia and some serious debate.

The Senate helped sponsor the October 15 Moratorium activities, elected a member to a committee which chose a new assistant principal, and aided in the abolition of the dress code. Recently there has been criticism of the Senate's "ineffectuality", as expressed in the Newtonite: "Much of the Senate's inability to act on an issue stems from confusion over the unanswered question raised often during discussion: 'How much power does the Senate have?' Nowhere is this really defined."

"Senate Officers have had to accept the fact that fifty percent of the Senators aren't going to show up and that, of those that attend meetings and work on committees, the overwhelming majority will be curriculum one students. This imbalance is not the fault of the Senate structure, or even Newton High School. To achieve a 'representative body' at NHS, changes would have to be made at the Junior High and elementary, and probably the pre-school levels."

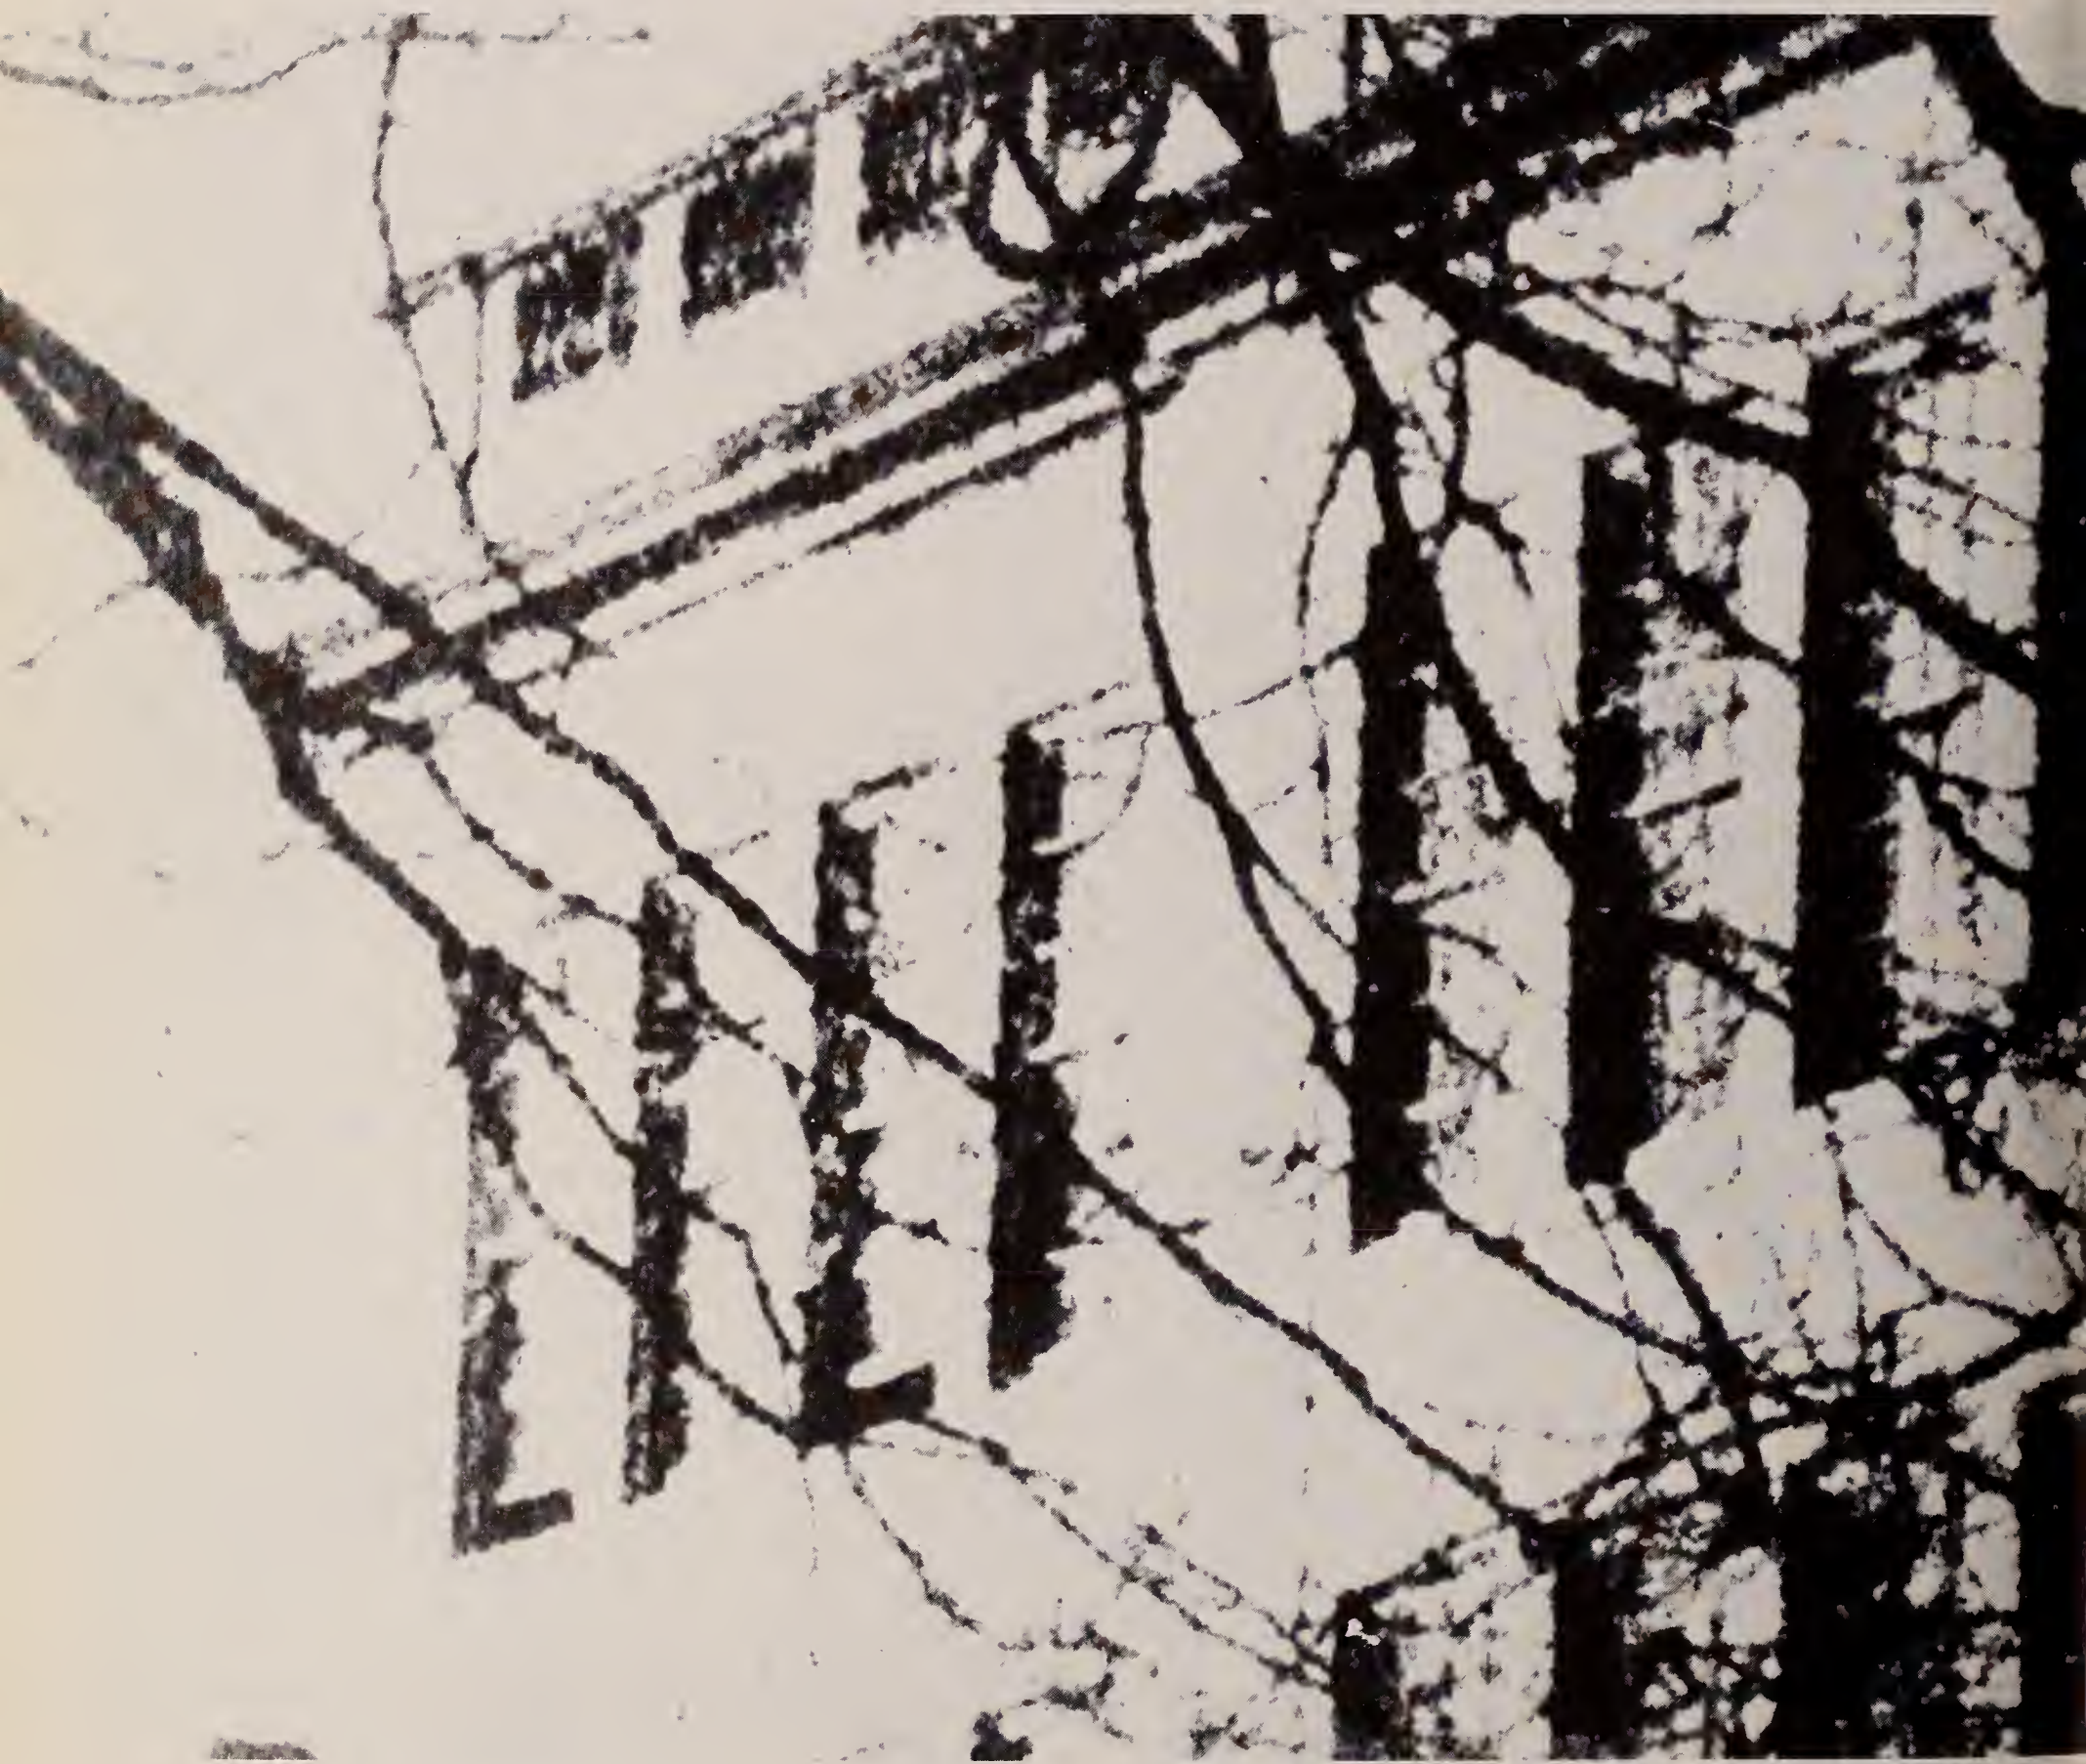

The criticism is natural and mostly justified. A newly formed organization of student government such as the Senate will undoubtedly grow, change, and improve under criticism such as this. But let us not fail to encourage the fresh new ideas, ambition, spirit, and hard work that have formed the Senate, and will hopefully continue to support it.

As far as we can gather, the rather unique "house system" at N.H.S. was put into effect for the combined purpose of organization and identification. In a school as large as ours, it is easy enough to become misplaced, confused, and disenchanted due to a serious lack of individual attention. The house system attempts to include each student in a smaller, more comprehensive circle of acquaintances, faculty and peers alike.

Each house was to provide for its students, a single housemaster, several house counselors, a homeroom, and a "house committee" whose job it would be to organize certain events for eligible members of that house. Of course it would be impossible to restrict the classes of a given student to one house, simply because not every house can offer the facilities of a science department, an artroom, a workshop, or a gymnasium. So the previously sheltered "house member" is sent out on his own to face the monstrous whole of N.H.S., alone.

Most houses, still competing with our ever-growing population, continue in the attempt to contain as many of their sophomores as possible within a single house. This effort tends to fade out by the time one becomes a senior, either because one's more developed and further reaching interests sent him on his own to various parts of the school, or one's overseers figure that if a student hasn't "identified" by now, he's a lost cause.

The house system has given rise to some interesting developments. The controversial matter of "house discipline" vs. "school discipline" has given way, and obliged the house to call the rules as it sees them, within reason. The attention of house faculty to student demands has brought about the rise of the "house commons room," complete with such luxuries as vending machines, draperies, and semicomfortable chairs. And in an attempt to renew its original purpose Barry House has established the new "Barry House Project" which will entirely contain its sophomores within its limits the second half of each school day.

Opinions vary as to whether the house system fulfills its purpose, what is wrong, and what could be changed. But it's gradually evolving to fit the needs of the students.

BARRY HOUSE COUNCIL

What is needed perhaps is a smaller community, one which gives the student a base to identify with. As he grows in confidence and security he will naturally branch out, investigate his opportunities. This is the aim of the "Barry House Project" — to offer its students a foundation, smaller, more freely-structured classes, where student teaches student and the learning is an outcome of questioning, conversing, and getting to know and trust one another. For this purpose, Barry House sophomores each have at least three-fifths of their classes scheduled in their house.

The House System never "failed," it was just never completed. More was needed than the decentralization of authority. Slowly, the houses have begun to explore their capacities, seek out, and provide what is needed. Stagnation is an unhealthy state, and nothing which does not grow and change can stay alive.

Sometimes students at Newton High feel confused, abandoned, or lost in its immensity. Many "good students" really detest coming to school, and feel that they could be learning much more in a different atmosphere, where they could explore what they really want to learn. The Murray Road Annex was started three years ago to meet this need, as an experiment in offering students a chance for supervised, liberally-structured "self-education."

Murray Road is a constructive outlet for those who need something different. Students there are free to choose what they want to explore, and how they want to do it. They have a chance to follow up their interests in various fields such as tutoring elementary school children, business, and pre-social work.

But not every student can succeed in this approach to learning. But for many, "do-it-yourself" education has worked. Sometimes it means getting a little overambitious or faltering, and maybe some things don't work out just as planned. But isn't the acceptance of the failures, along with the successes, half the learning?

It's long gone. The gags, good vs. evil, applause, laughter, a mildly intoxicating party-all nostalgia. But we, the make-believe characters, will remember the love that warmed the hearts of so many those two cold December nights. We tried to bring some love to the masses. They laughed together. After the curtain closed, they mingled outside, reminiscing, all with smiles on their faces.

We were strangers in the beginning. During the three long hard months of rehearsal, we wanted to feel and care for each other as a family, a family that was going to show something for their toil. We were going to knock 'em dead! There was always a laugh to carry us through those moments when everyone seemed to be on edge.

"A llama or a gila monster?"

"That's funnnny! Keep it in!"

Then there was the one man who was a constant reminder of that love. He's thin, wiry, bespectacled, jittery, a poor judge of stairways, and a lousy impersonator of a lewd Irishman. He had a heart as big as the auditorium that we worked in.

It was great. It will soon be forgotten by those who came to be entertained. Old playbills will be stashed away in some dusty attic. But those who saw "Gold in the Hills" have something that will never grow old or dust-ridden. They have the love inside them that was produced by a cast of strangers.

SENIOR SUPPER

The Senior Supper drew us to the NHS gym on Saturday evening, February 28th. Everyone, hungry and impatient for things to begin, appreciated roast beef sandwiches and Italian subs with (of course) cokes and potato chips.

The seniors (somewhat together) gathered in front of a makeshift stage, anticipating what turned out to be a surprisingly entertaining evening. It was set-up as a take-off from the Johnny Carson Show, with guest stars such as Raquel Welch, and Mrs. Arnold Palmer, a striptease by Miss Vavoom, a beauty contest, and perhaps most successful of all, an imitation of Shanana.

But on Monday morning, we were just strangers again.

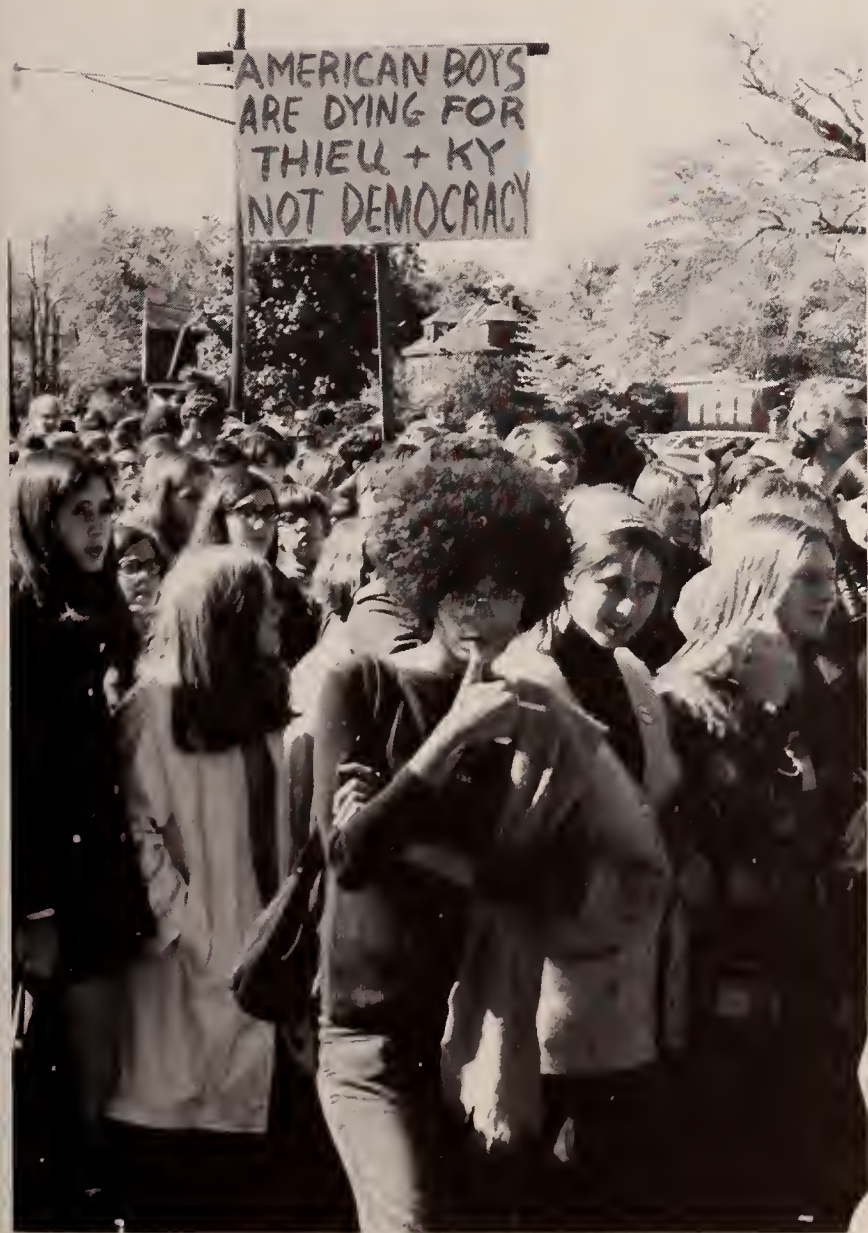

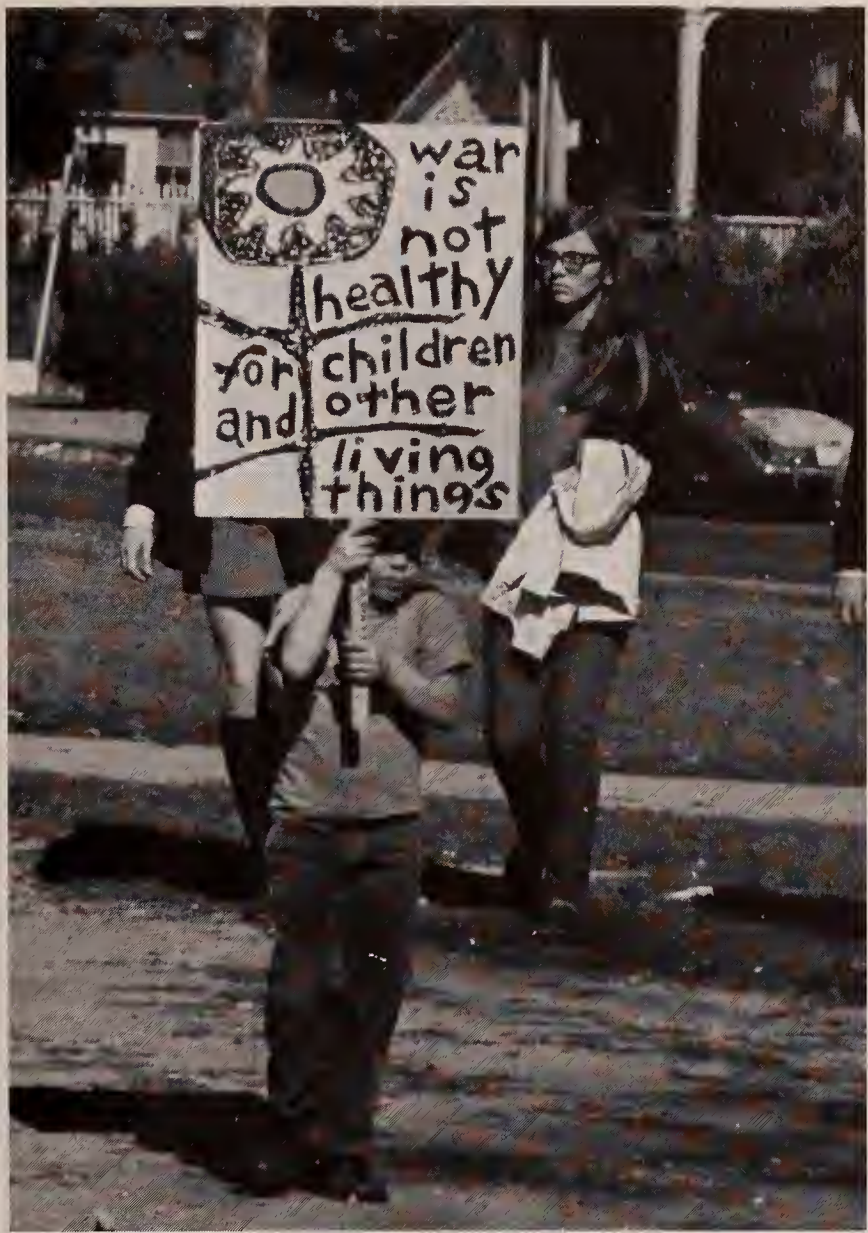

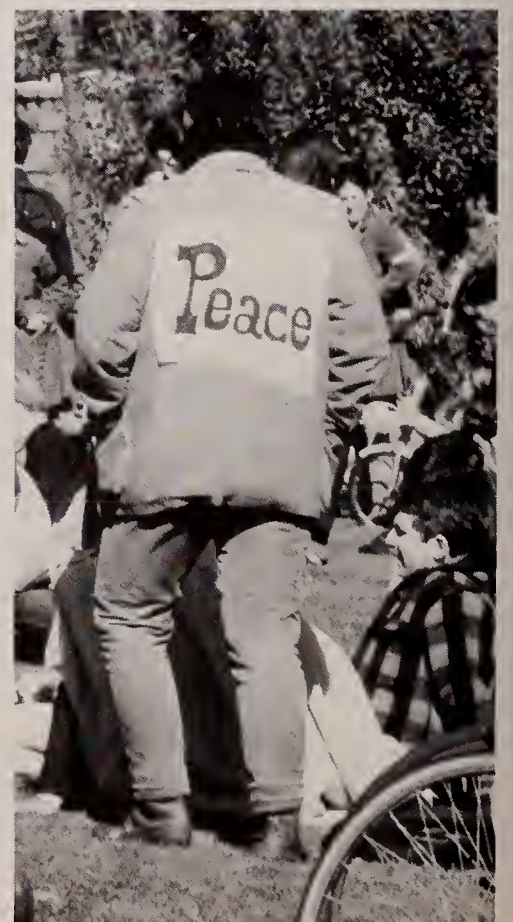

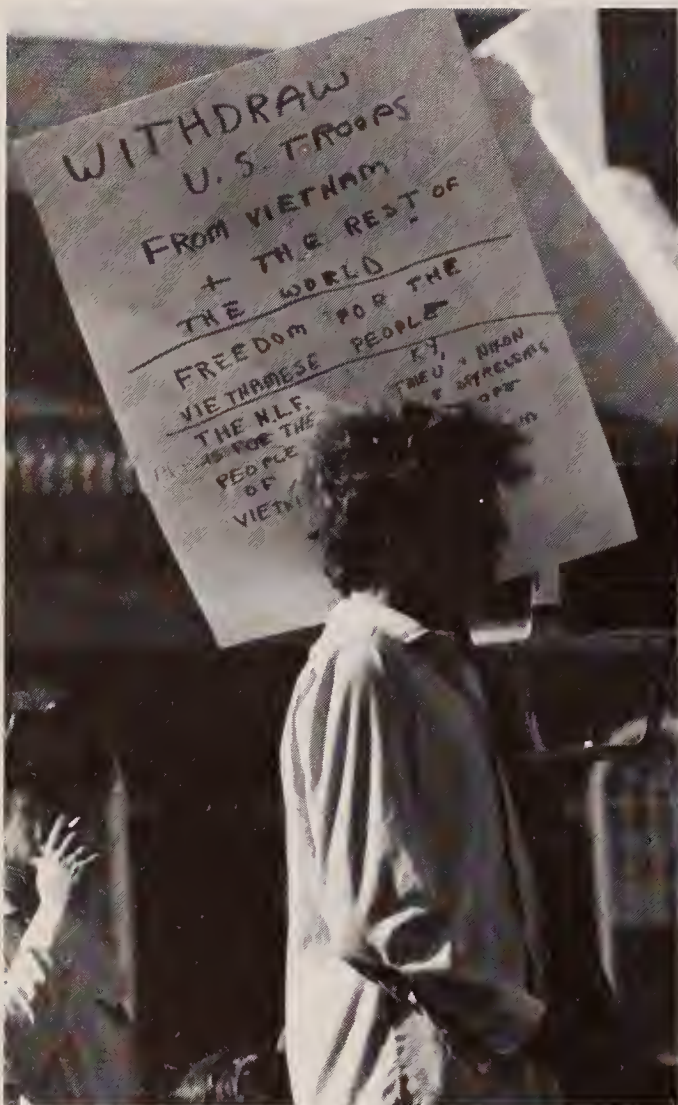

BANDWAGON TO BOSTON

The carnival began at sunrise with the waking of the martyr with the making of a prophet and the shaking of the grave.
The ground ; of sun and thunder,
Littered with the cries of stone and brick and ice
unmelted, unfelt,
fills heartily with voices of loud
and crushing pleading.
And the blessed people shout that all will join to conquer and with angry death and murder
they shall kill war
they shall kill hate
they shall kill all.
Thick through softening gunfire
the face of the man on the platform appears,
calling forth Lazarus from the dead and calling forth the anger of masses and calling forth from the unknown,
the blood of man.
He so hopelessly attempts to be the martyred man, bleeding, dying, who in pitiful anguish
is forever in us.
The captive slaves of America are free to roam the city
offering its wagon to the lost the confused
the imprisoned citizens
as a refuse from the chains.
On the wagon
there is freedom, freedom to have war for peace.

Beyond the voices and cries, an unbearable stillness gathers in my mind.
 A shrill echo repeats and repeats
 in the depths of my soul,
 peace or war, war or peace.
 And still, no one knows.
 Then there is nobody. There is nothing.
 The silence stills the night.
 The masses forget and the war triumphs on.
 And in ignorance and sorrow
 the wagon of the masses is broken and burnt at the bottom of the hill; not a single soul can remember the yesterday joyride on the bandwagon to Boston.

THE TEACHERS had agreed before the vote that a candidate could win only with the approval of a majority of the people in the room. Thus a large number of abstentions could have deadlocked the meeting.

Teachers have never before been able to elect administrators (see editorial, page two). Mr. Mechem explained that "one advantage of the teachers choosing their own administrator is that, if they are later dissatisfied, the administration is absolved of the blame."

The permanent housemaster, Mr. Hall, said he would use his three months off to complete his doctoral thesis for the Columbia University School of Education.

"I plan to live at home and work at Harvard," said Hall. He has worked on the mammoth treatise for the past two summers.

Committee sets plan for Senior Supper

The Senior Class Committee, at a recent meeting, began plans for the Senior Supper to be held on Saturday, February 7 at seven o'clock in the school gym.

Although the Committee had inquired before about the entertainment and food service, President Elliott Baker felt that the previous meeting had not been to set up special committee vote on other plans for

The group decided that for the supper be catered by Delight. Everyone will be in a partitioned section of the gym. A band sets up in another room. Later in the evening, the gym will be used for dancing.

"It may be possible to hire bands," said Elliott. "Although, we are not deciding which groups we will hire for."

THE COMMITTEE plans for the students to write and present plays. This has often been done at the Class Suppers. Mrs. Baker, the Senior Class Adviser, said the skit presentations are interesting and enjoyable.

The Committee voted on "Coming To Supper?" as the theme. The way in which the supper is carried out in the gymnasium activities will be kept the same, however. Several suggestions were made for carrying out the

SPORTS

For the first time in several seasons, the Newton High School Tigers came to summer sessions with much at stake. They were defending the Class A and Suburban League Championships, so this year Coach Jim Ronayne had extra incentive in preparing his players for the up-coming campaign.

Finishing the grueling summer sessions, the Tigers appeared in excellent shape to face Everett in their opener. The gaps left by departed members of the 1968 team seemed to be more than adequately filled.

The biggest question mark going into the Everett debut was quarterback Brian Keefe, who was making his first start in a varsity contest. He as well as the team came through excellently, leaving no doubt that the Tigers would once again be in contention for both titles.

Throughout the game and the season the powerful backfield demonstrated the ability to run and catch passes as well as being able to protect the quarterback.

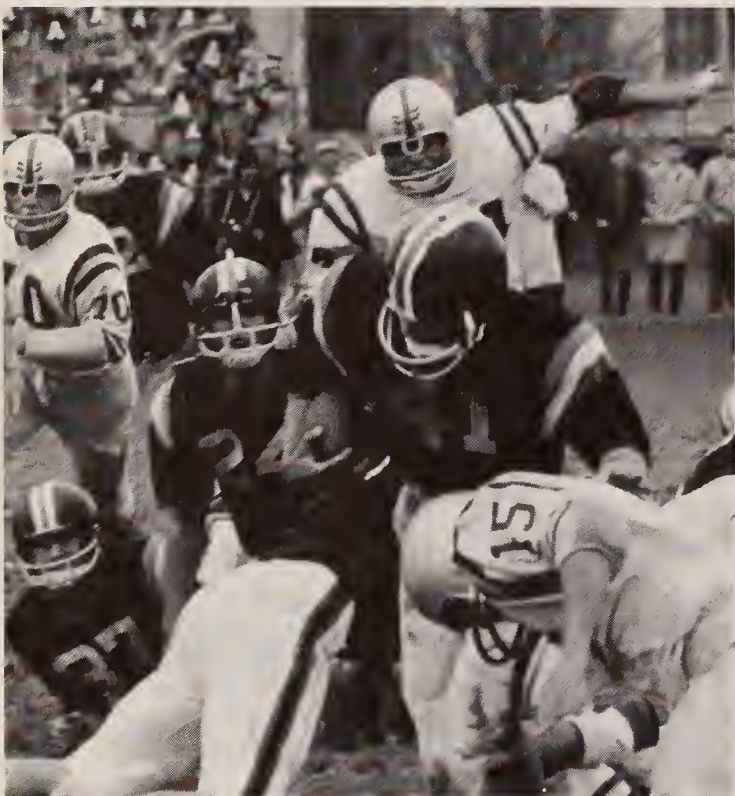

All-Scholastic Mike Butts, Bob Wargin and George Norcross all had fine seasons and brilliant moments. Yet not enough can be said about the line that made one of the highest scoring Newton teams possible. Aside from opening holes and protecting the passer, they blocked kicks, forced fumbles, and even intercepted passes. They did more than just get the job done well. Against Boston Latin it was basically the defensive line that preserved the narrow 7-0 victory for the Tigers. The lines consisted of Steve Frager, Marc Simon, Co-Captain Jay Wiltin, George Gardner, Dan Murphy, John Myerson, Charley MacGillivray, Ray Fawson, Charley Vitti and Paul Gorfine.

The defensive offensive units balanced each other well. This interdependence, coupled with depth of the squad, aided in the formation of another championship team.

THANKSGIVING DAY 1969

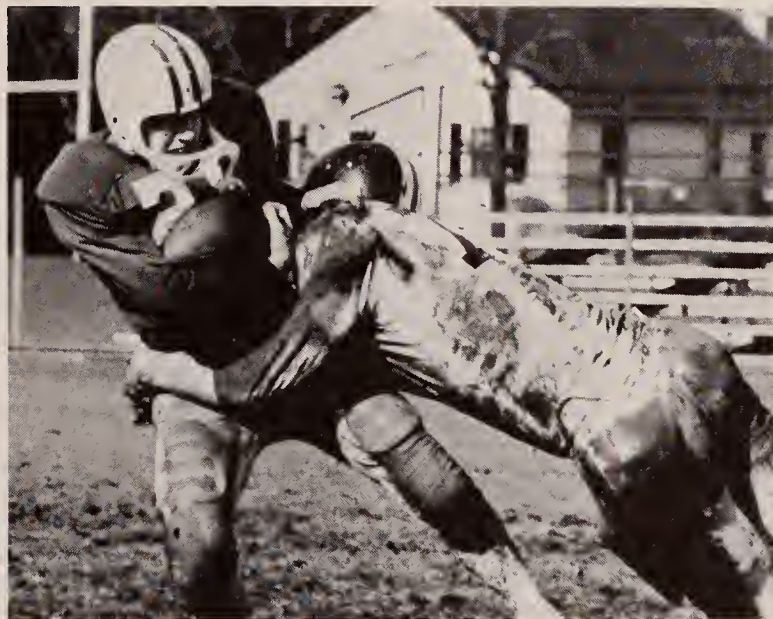

For the second consecutive season, the battle for the Surburban League crown and possibly the Class A Championship came down to the final coveted Brookline-Newton confrontation.

The first part of the game indicated that the contest would be a low-scoring, defensive type of ball game. Neither team's offense seemed very responsive.

Then, mid-way through the second quarter, sure-handed end Jerry Beatrice took a Brookline punt and out-ran all the defenders, putting Newton on the score board. Keith Kozlowski booted the conversion and sent the Tigers ahead 7-0. From this point on the game was Newton all the way. Mike Butts and Bob Wargin added finishing touches, as the defense, led by a Ray Ball interception, contained the Wealthy Towners.

Although N.H.S. students don't seem as "rah-rah" as they used to be, there is still attachment between the high school and its students. Even though the days of the gigantic pre-game rally and the postgame victory dance are gone, some of the pride and identification with school lingers. After the Thanksgiving Day victory, those who had disclaimed their identity with Newton High were caught saying, "hey, did you hear? We beat Brookline!" This kind of statement seems to show that even those who are alienated from their high school do get a thrill from seeing their school get credit for being good in some way.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE CHAMPS

9-1

It's hard to express the loneliness of being a Newton High School soccer fan. You stand and watch the fast action-filled game. The great skill and agility in handling the ball amazes you. Then you let out a shout as Newton scores a goal, and the echo of your voice rings throughout Silver Lake.

But there is companionship when you go to Hawthorne Field for a soccer game. There are the neighborhood dogs, and at least one referee stands within fifty yards of you. In fact, crowds have reached such proportions, due to the championship team, that instead of bleachers, there are now fire hydrants.

Hustle and talent are all a coach could ever ask for. This is exactly what Coach Gordon Elliot received from his 1969 team. The team out-ran, out-shot, and usually out-scored their opponents. Yet, due to occasional lapses and unlucky plays, the Tigers sometimes lost. But they were superior to every team they faced throughout the season and into the state tournament.

The front five, including three who brought their soccer skills from foreign countries, Emilio Mazzola, Tim Tsochantaridis, and Abe Oros, along with Bob Doyle and Paul Aronian, were tremendous ball controllers. Using their great variety of tricks. Emilio, Tim and Abe were able to bring the ball up-field and either shoot it or give it off to the powerful kicks of Doyle and Aronian.

The halfbacks constantly kept the ball in their opponent's end of the field, providing opportunities for the front line to score. When the enemy did manage to penetrate the lines, they were always met with tough opposition from the halfbacks: Tom Donovan, Dave Goodman, and Mark Volk.

Corey Nusbaum and Scrimshaw constantly stymied enemy attempts on the Newton goal, making goalies Elliott Baker and Ken Daniels' job considerably easier. The entire team practiced and played with great desire, skill, and love for the sport. They deserved far greater support than they received.

Making the semi-finals of the Eastern Mass. Tournament finally brought a few fans to watch the soccer team, which received fine leadership from Tri-Captains Dave Goodman, Mark Volk, and Jim Broderick.

The semi-finals of the Eastern Mass. Tourney were a prime example of what a spirited and talented team Newton had.

The first period of play brought three quick New Bedford goals, against an obviously frightened and awed Newton team. However the Tigers soon composed themselves and began to dominate play in the second period.

After the half, in the third period, Newton completely took over play. The ball was kept solely in the New Bedford end of the field. Emilio Mazzola was constantly feeding his line with the ball. Abe Oros finally connected and put the Tigers back in the game.

Halfbacks Tom Donovan, Dave Goodman, Mark Volk, and Steve Scrimshaw kept play in the New Bedford half with powerful kicks and alert passing. In the fourth period of play, Paul Aronian connected on a long high shot to make the score 3-2. A tremendous last minute effort fell short of the needed goal. The Newton team, however, proved it was equal to or better than any team in Eastern Mass.

CROSS COUNTRY

The 1969 Cross Country Track Team had another successful season, thanks to the big 1,2,3 punch of Senior Captain Doug Tomb, Junior Jay Sidman, and Senior Mike O'Brien.

Coach Abner Bailey's well-shorn winners dropped only one loss overall, to Brockton, this year's Class A Champions. The competition was tougher this year, due to an expanded league. The harriers failed to win the Suburban Crown for the first time in four years, taking second place instead. In the Class A meet, Newton was held to fifth place, because of late-season injuries.

Although Newton did not win the Suburban League Meet as a team, Captain Doug Tomb and Jay Sidman took 1 and 2, respectively, making it the fourth time in four years that Newton has won individually, and the third time in four years that Newton has taken 1 and 2 in the race.

In Cross Country, even more important than winning a race in a meet, is having strong back-up men who can be counted on to take the remainder of the first seven places. Strong back-up men on the varsity were Seniors Dave Blake, Dan Penzer, and John Bowles, Juniors Steve Coggiano, Ed Coan, and Jim Boates, and sophomores Steve Blake and Ken Gorfinkle.

The J.V. team, Bob Carleo, John Dichter, Dave Fray, Fred Graves, Frank Linde, Jim Long, Joel Riesman and Paul Warner, placed second in the Suburban League. They also showed outstanding individual efforts.

FIELD HOCKEY

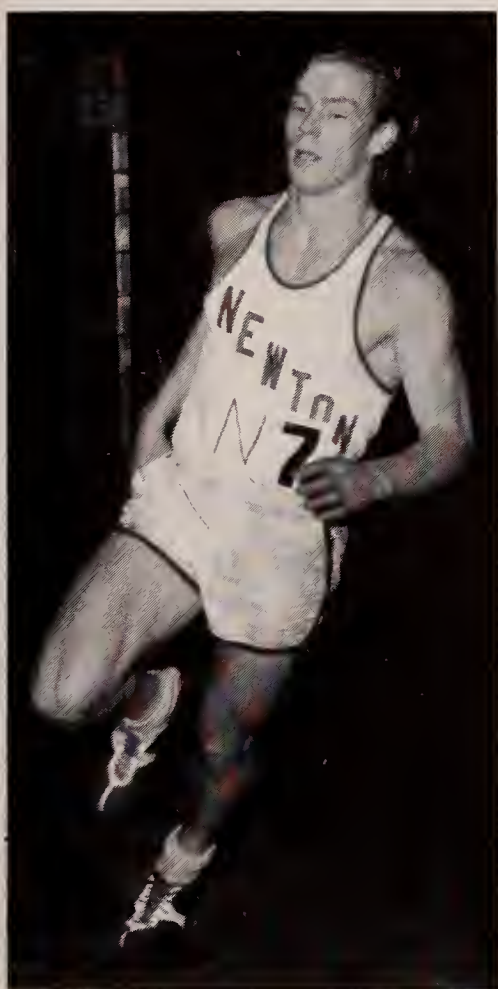

Most sports teams need an enthusiastic crowd to cheer them on to victory. But the Girl's Field Hockey Team managed to complete the season with a 4-3-2 record, without the crowds.

The girls played exceptionally well, considering the disadvantage of Miss Davidson's illness, which kept her out for several weeks. During this time, the team lost only one game, to Westwood.

The leadership of captains Barbara Mulcahy, Kathy Fay, and Margie Drew helped the girls work well together as a team. The high point of the season was the Newton South game, at which the team scored 4 goals to Newton South's 0. "It was a dominating game, superbly played," said Coach Davidson.

INDOOR TRACK

Track has tremendous business potential. If only the high school were aware of the possibilities, financially speaking, the gym office would probably become a "bookies joint." Then Saturday would be the day at the track, and Newton High School track followers would sound entirely different than they do now.

"Hey Gus, who do ya got in the thousand today?"

"Me, I got that new one. I looked him over as they were dressing him before the race."

"What's his name and how much ya got on him?"

"His name is Douglas. I put ten on him saying he'd show."

"Lemme see your sheet. Thanks. Hey, Scrimshaw in the six hundred is what I've got. Who tipped you off?"

"I called up Boyle's Bookie Bin and spoke to Stop-Watch Ed himself."

"Yeah, well I got my info from Betting Bob Malone."

"Who else ya got there?"

"Boyer to win the three hundred, Norcross in the fifty, Fawson in the hurdles, O'Brien to show in the high jump, and Penzer and Sidman in the two-mile."

"Man, you must have a hundred bucks riding today."

"Ya, I know. Isn't high school track great? But it only stays that way if you don't take it too seriously."

Other stand-outs were Mike Tyman who provided fine leadership, Mike O'Brien, Ken Boates, Steve Caggiano, Ken Gorfinkel, and Paul Price.

HOCKEY

of referees when unfavorable decisions were made.

It seems somewhat ironic that the players, who may have had reason to become heated, stayed cool, and concentrated instead on playing the best hockey they could. 1969-1970 was a comeback and rebuilding season for the Tiger Icemen. After a humiliating 68-69 season, Newton had new faces, along with the older and more experienced ones, on the ice. Co-Captains Joe Rossi and Bob Fay, along with Steve Dunn, Steve Condon, George Reynolds, and Tom Donovan had all had at least one season of Varsity experience.

Although finishing a distant third in the newly formed Suburban League, the Tigers took a giant step upwards in their bid to regain some of Newton's past prominence in hockey. Newton had many dazzling moments, as well as victories (quite a switch from the previous season). Bob Fay's hat tricks, in the over-

"Blood, pain, agony!" were the cries that came from the Newton section at the Boston Arena where the Tigers played their hockey games. As with all good hockey fans, it would be ridiculous to assume that all they came for was hockey. Newton has managed to breed a special kind of hockey follower who no longer keeps track of the goals scored, but rather of the punches landed and stitches received. It was not unusual to hear fans cheer on their team with such calls as, "Hey, you guys, do you think we came here to watch a hockey game?" A great favorite with the crowd was the player that had to be escorted from the ice in his cage after each period. The older generation is not to be forgotten as avid hockey fans. They recognize and cheer the skills of their children on the ice by constantly calling for the opponent's blood. The adults further demonstrated their civic spirit by threatening the lives whelming victories against Rindge and Waltham, added much flash to the Newton offensive efforts. All-Star Steve Condon's sparkling and sometimes unbelievable performance was supported by defensemen Steve Dunn, Dan Murphy and John Deely. The defense seemed to be the key to the first part of the Tiger's season. It came to its peak against Waltham, when Condon and the defense were letter-perfect all through the contest. They were rewarded when George Reynolds blasted the winner past the Waltham goalie, putting an end to the goalie dual.

The offense gathered momentum towards the end of the season, with Co-Captains Rossi and Fay leading Tom Donovan, Joe Arnold, Bill Carey, Jim Fay, George Reynolds, Walter Cox, and Steve Chapman.

The season ended on a bright note, with a victory over Waltham and three Newton players, Steve Dunn, Steve Condon, and Bob Fay, winning spots on the all-star team.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

 BOTTOM ROW: Bove, Blauer, Penegast, Beatrice, Frutkin, Laughlin, J. Doolin.

This season, the Boys' Basketball Team started off with two new coaches: Mr. Jerry Phillips from Warren Jr. High, who assisted Mr. Fortune last year, and Mr. Michael (Izzub) Buzzi who in the past has coached Junior Varsity.

Having two new coaches served as incentive for the boys, especially those who have played on Varsity for the past two years. The team has a season's record of 10 wins and 8 losses. This was an improvement over last year's record of 4 wins 14 losses.

The starting line was composed of three seniors: Captain Jerry Beatrice, Lenny Gentile and John Colantonio, and two Juniors: Chuck Pendergast and Jeff Dunn. Lenny Gentile was the high scorer of the season, with a total accumulation of 267 points. In the second game played against Brockton, Lenny scored 30 points, which was half Newton's for the entire game.

Both Waltham games were unusually exciting. The first Newton-Waltham game had a double overtime, until the tie was finally broken with Waltham 44 to Newton 38. However, the second game made up for the first loss, with Pendergast scoring 25 points, and a final score of Newton 87, Waltham 68.

Tallying up their scores for the season, the team never lost by more than 12 points, which shows how well the team played. Even when the boys sensed they were losing, they still played a strenuous game, trying to keep the score as close as possible.

As Mr. Buzzi remarked, "The boys are a fast-breaking, play-making team."

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Somehow the N.H.S. boys' sports teams always seem to receive more recognition than the girls', even if the girls' records far surpass those of the boys'.

But, this year we want everyone to know that the Girls' Basketball Team had a fine record of 11 wins and 2 losses. Until the Arlington game, the girls had won 18 straight games, counting those from last season.

Whether it was their good sportsmanship or their incentive, or both, which led them on to victory, is a question to ponder. Yet, I suppose if a sundae were waiting for you after a game, you'd want to win too. It all started in the Brockton game. The game wasn't going too well. Finally in the last four minutes, Coach Lukowicz said to the girls, "If you can score ten points in the next four minutes, I'll buy you each a sundae."

That was all the girls needed to hear. Within the next four minutes they scored not ten points but nineteen points. (Meanwhile, Coach Lukowicz was mathematically solving the equation 50×5).

Credit should be given to Mr. Barry Howland. Every Wednesday after school, he came down and played in a scrimmage with the girls. This was good practice, because it gave the girls a chance to play against outsiders.

Next season the Girl's Basketball Team will be in the Suburban League, just like the boys.

BOYS' GYMNASTICS

We must first ask ourselves, what is a gymnast?

A gymnast is a boy who walks about school with taped hands and wrists.

A gymnast is someone with great masculinity.

A gymnast has either hairy arms or a hairy chest (depending on his event).

A gymnast is someone who walks home on his hands.

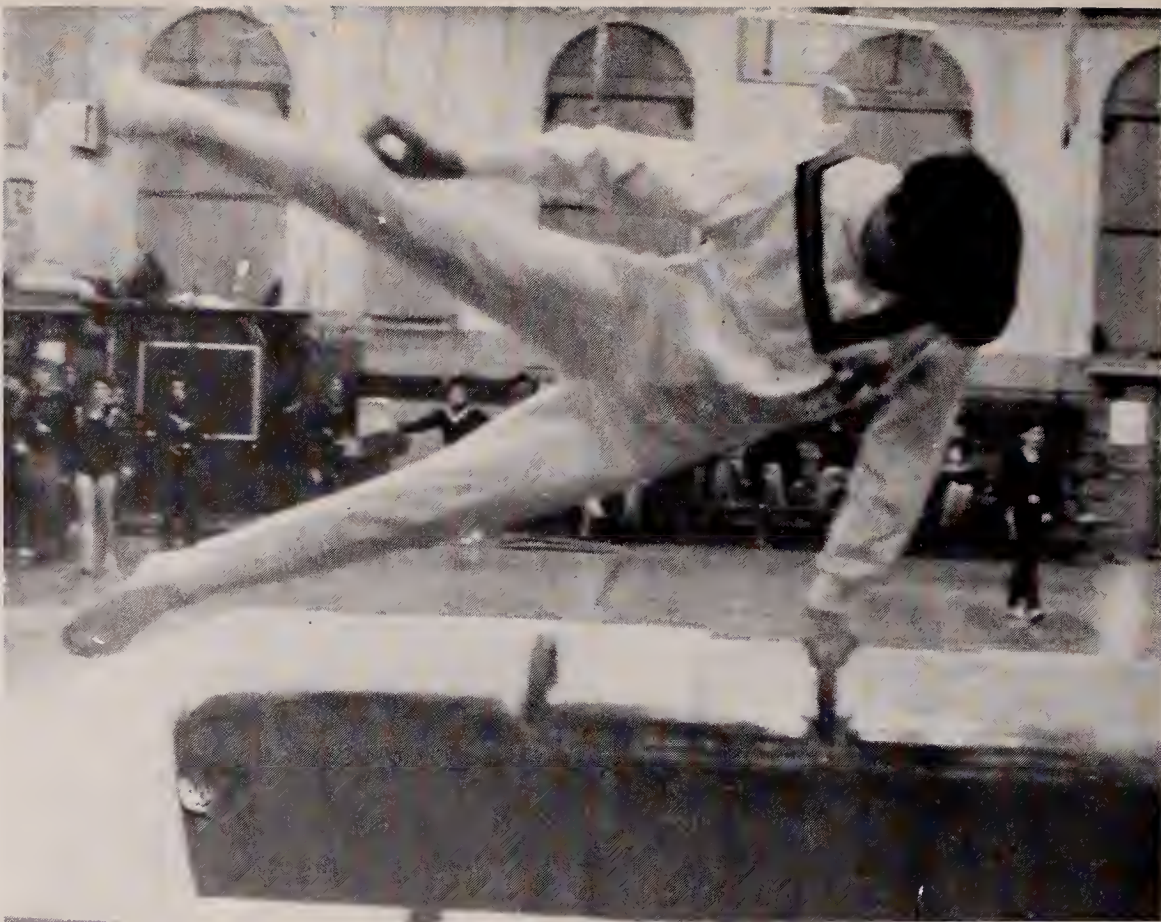

But most of all a gymnast has muscles, and that's what makes the tedious work-outs worthwhile.

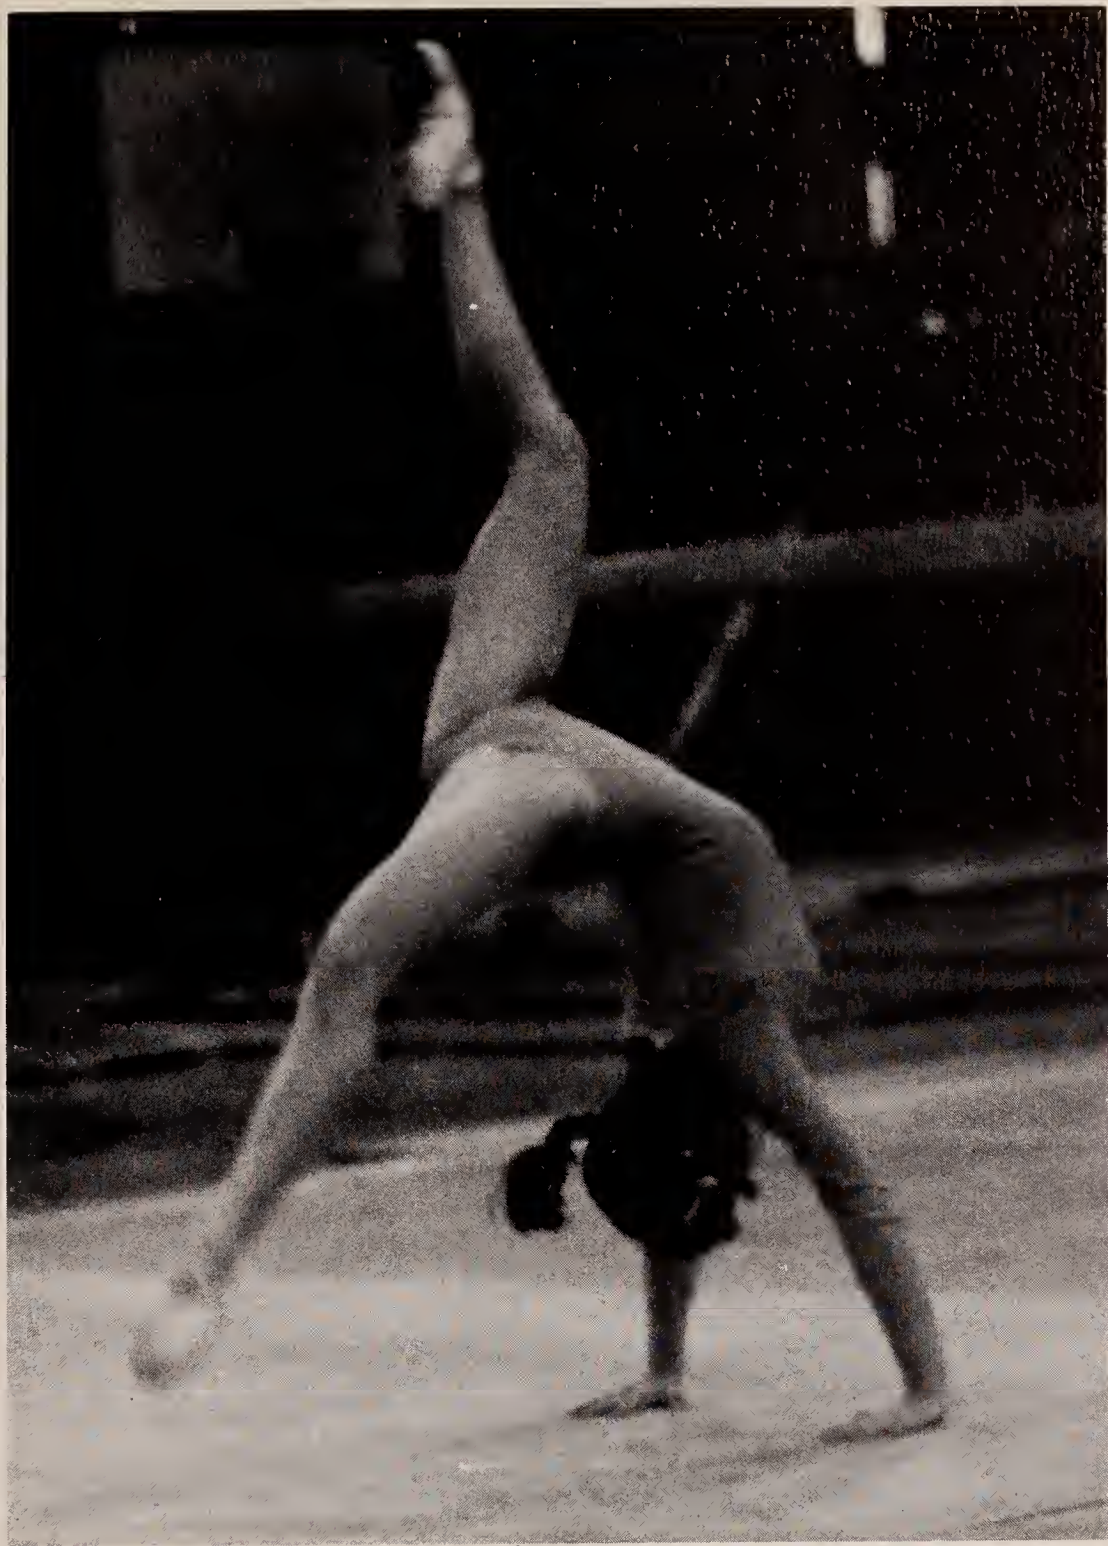

The 1969-70 season proved to be a tribute to Coach Jessup and the Newton gymnastics program. In the past Newton has always had a super-star or several great gymnasts to rely upon. This season, although there were excellent one-or two-event men, the team, in order to win, had to have all-round performers. Copping the Suburban League title this year was truly a team effort. Co-Captains Paul Henry and Steve DiBeneditti, aside from providing fine leadership, were outstanding in floor exercises (side horse); and high bar, respectively. Paul Gorfine proved tremendous on the long horse. He qualified for the state finals, along with Erwin Heckler on the horse, and Mike DiBeneditti on the parallel bars. Bill Eager on the rings, Guy Forte on the parallel bars and the side horse, Bob Clancy doing floor exercises, and Bruce French on the horizontal bars were all standouts, although they did not qualify for the state championships.

GIRLS' GYMNASTICS

Girls' gymnastics at N.H.S. is considered an art as well as a sport. A good gymnast needs precision, agility, and grace. This may be one of the many reasons why the team became Northern League Champions, as well as placing fourth in the State Team meet at Andover. The number one reason for their rewarding season is the hard work of the girls and the excellent coaching.

All the competitors showed a great amount of spirit. High-scoring performances were made by Jane Weiss and Helen Chen on the beam and free exercise, Leslie Crutchfield on vaulting, and Gail McCarthy and Renee Goldberg on the uneven parallel bars. Other supporting performers were Mary Ann Frawley, Mary Lee McCarthy, Ruth Melvin and Patty Mingace.

Although gymnastics is a sport in which the individual has to get out and perform alone, it has also proven to be a sport where individuals come together to make a strong and united team. The hopes, fears, anxieties, and attitudes that each individual feels make for a better understanding of oneself, as well as of others. A successful team is more than just skillful competitors: it is the feeling of a united team.

Wrestling began at N.H.S. this year as a trial sport. The verdict is in, and it appears that wrestling is here to stay.

It started off with a group of boys who were willing to work and were determined to become good wrestlers. Coach Norman Walker's boys showed a lot of courage when they decided to wrestle a varsity schedule rather than a J.V. schedule. This meant facing boys who had had three to four years of varsity wrestling experience, in a sport where experience means almost everything. Hungry for experience, they took on both J.V. and Varsity teams. Even though the grapplers failed to win a match this year, it would be wrong to say that the season was a disappointment. Junior George Gardner showed leadership and good wrestling as he went undefeated during the course of the regular season. Steve Frager (Heavyweight Class) took a strong fifth place in the sectionals at Wayland, battling some of the best wrestlers in the state.

Coach Walker has a lot to look forward to next year. Twenty-seven out of thirty boys will be back, and if they show any of the dedication and hardwork they showed this year, the team can't help but be a winner.

Making things happen at Raytheon.

Today, at Raytheon we are finding an extra measure of challenge and excitement. In addition to working at the forefront of advancing technology, we are continuing the search for opportunities to transfer technology from one area to another.

We have, for example, found a way to use submarine sonar technology in the offshore search for oil.

Our long experience in radar technology has led to the amazing Radarange® microwave oven for the home. While exploring new methods for cooling high power electronic tubes, we developed a miniature furnace, the size of a two-pound coffee can, so efficient it can heat a nine-room house.

These are just some of the things happening at Raytheon, a science-based company now employing more than 50,000 talented people around the world.

At Raytheon, the future looks even more exciting and challenging. Perhaps you will find your future with us.

Senior Thesis

I. Thoughts about the hereafter

(or . . . Is there a life after graduation?)

Seriously, graduation isn't the end, you know. It's just the beginning. And it could be the beginning of one of the most challenging and fulfilling times of your life. At New England Telephone. It could be, that is, if you want a job with a challenge as big as your ambition. We need people at New England Telephone — all kinds. People who are sincerely interested in the future. And who are looking for more from their job than just work! Your starting salary is good and you get automatic raises. You don't need experience! Your advancement is tailored to your talents. And you get excellent fringe benefits.

II. See your Guidance Counselor

She'll tell you when and where you can apply for an interview to find out what the "hereafter's" like at

1970

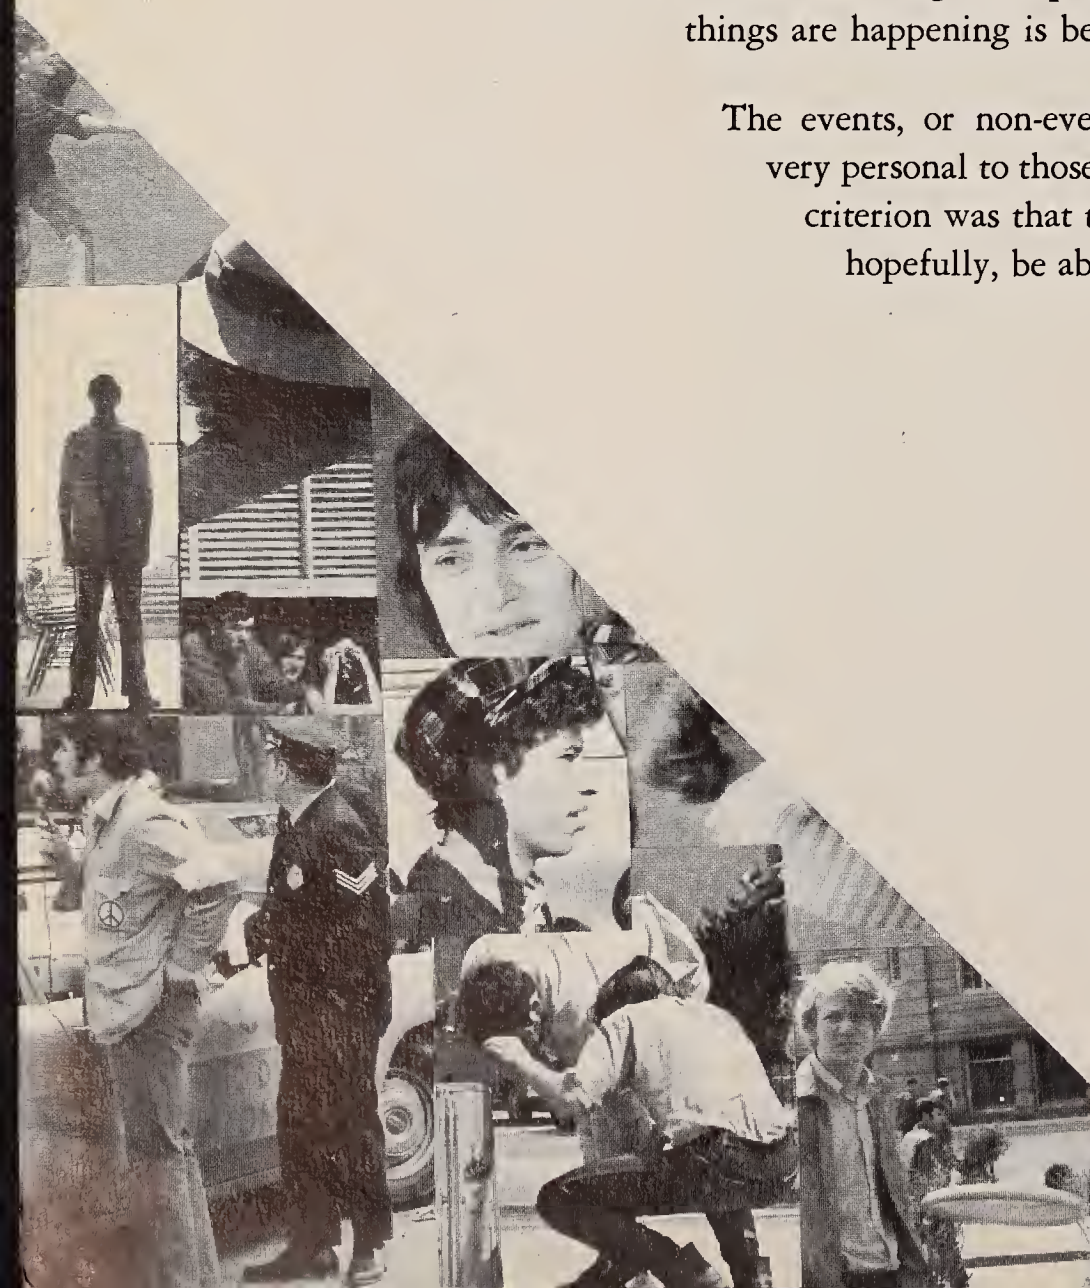

The four walls of classrooms all over the country are fast tumbling down; students are "moving out into the street" both literally and figuratively. There is a real concern now for what is happening to all of us. Our vast efficient communications systems force us to be increasingly more sensitive to the pressures of politics, of environmental decay, of changing moral viewpoints, of an ever-more threatening world situation.

Individual involvement has been varied in response to the many current issues. Newton High School has provided students with a central location where they can articulate their ideas and hopefully pursue them in a freer atmosphere, that is not always found in a classroom. From the usual group that wears out the Junior College lawn, to those who pursue a different kind of education through independent research, this idea of moving out to where things are happening is being explored more fully than ever before.

The events, or non-events, documented in this supplement range from the very personal to those that may have shaken people all over the world: the only criterion was that they hold meaning for students here, who will read this and, hopefully, be able to call some of these events their own.

"Should we elevate some people above others at a time when we desperately need to find a common level on which to establish communication and work toward understanding? Perhaps without ever having originally intended to do so, The National Honor Society creates an elite which tends to polarize the school and encourages divisiveness . . .

At this point we feel that we can only raise questions about the validity of the society. It is obsolete in what it stands for now. It is inert, it has no function. It must discover a new creed and some way in which it can contribute to the life of the community."

"Even as the faculty committee takes it upon itself to modify the policies of the national group, and even as we can applaud the sensitivity of many of those persons who decline membership in the society, the qualities which the National Honor Society represents and honors are more desperately needed now than ever before . . . The choices that you have made at Newton High School, the things you have done to deserve this honor, are not unimportant and insignificant, and similar acts in the future are crucial to our survival. That sounds like a cliché: but I believe it quite literally."

A play is a real phenomenon: it makes (sometimes destroys) friendships, and it provides all sorts of intrigue that the audience never sees on the night of the performance. A play is primarily people and our people were especially independent. We were not closely knit, nor did we pretend to be; we were not an already-established group of friends doing a production together. Because of our diversity, we all brought widely different talents and feelings and outlooks into the production. That is why everyone in the cast really felt so exultant Saturday night: in spite of a trying schedule that had demanded that we be up until midnight or later almost every night of the dress rehearsal week, and most of all in spite of the fact we had come together as a group from the widest range of circumstances possible, we discovered that we shared in creating the play Pygmalion together from the tryouts to the frantic rehearsals to the opening night, and best of all we realized we had a magnificent time doing it.

EARTH DAY

"A concerned and universal plea for life . . ."

"Not only must our industrial system be changed; the system of beliefs about man's relationship with the natural world which underlies it must be corrected if we are to escape the jaws of the coming crisis."

REVEREND SCOTT PARADISE

In spite of all the emphasis on destruction and deterioration, I still believe in the continuous renewal of life, of beauty, and of the need to celebrate all that is joyous. We have to find a way that leads out of this, and then shall we be truly born.

COLLOQUIUM

of ideas is unlimited."*

The second colloquium: a hopeful success or a total failure? It depends perhaps on what our expectations were. We certainly did not move mountains between 8:30 and 1:00 on March 18. The stragglers across the football field illustrated an alarming unconcern. But what of the students and teachers who sat together and discussed school issues on a common individual level, perhaps for the first time? And what of the general opinion that there was a kind of education happening here whose importance lay in its open and casual informality? Too often the idea of people talking to each other on this basis is dismissed when faced with carefully structured lesson plans and endless tests.

In a way the question is not one of adopting or rejecting specific proposals, but whether this day really marked the beginning of a more human awareness of who we are and our real relationships with the other areas of the school.

MORATORIUM

"Even the finest of arms are an instrument of evil;
a spread of plague;
And the way for a vital man to go
The death of a multitude is cause for mourning:
Conduct your triumph as a funeral."
Tao-te-Ching, 30,31.

MEMORIAL

Wednesday, May 6: Today the feelings expressed during April 15 were put into action; no longer were we satisfied with circular and onesided discussions. We could now broaden our own base of activity in whichever sphere of thinking we chose to move. Some students threw themselves fully into coordinating strike-for-peace activities; others (a significant and vocal minority) remained in a phalanx of the protest. Obviously I as protestors of the protest. Others had an air of bewilderment today; seemingly asking by their expressions, "Has it really come to this?"

One of the most important aspects of the strike was the process of a group of students largely passive politically, finally voicing the ideological challenges that they may have officially felt all along. Blatantly disagreeing with the policy of strikers, they formed a coalition of sorts, they proceeded to persuade the debate, and they proceeded to persuade the students through the same means as their opposition; (i.e. the information booths, leaflets, and posters.) In this way the protest involved them as deeply as it involved the strikers, for peace. They have not remained on the fringes of school politics, but rather shown a new and encouraging kind of commitment. It makes possible a more honest confrontation when each side feels competent to confront the other on its own terms. Stopping the actual strike situation may not matter, but stopping the student flow and exchange of words could ruin something that may be established new: a rare but real freedom of expression.

FREEPORT "a family to help families"

THE CONCEPTION:

H- block meets after school, so very few people registered for our psychology class, but strangely enough, each week the class grew and our ideas grew with it. A very special teacher realized that learning expanded beyond the four walls of the classroom. One month later the Freeport concept had evolved and we all knew it was going to happen.

LABOR

So we hammered out a proposal and began to talk to people, but, more important, to listen: Freeport teas, Freeport conferences, Freeport Monday nights, Freeport office. Tears, laughter, achievement, frustration.

We found a house we lost a house we found a house we lost a house we bought a house.

We learned about real estate agents and being "ill advised."

And we learned about neighbors. Nobody ever had so many neighbors to learn from.

THE BIRTH

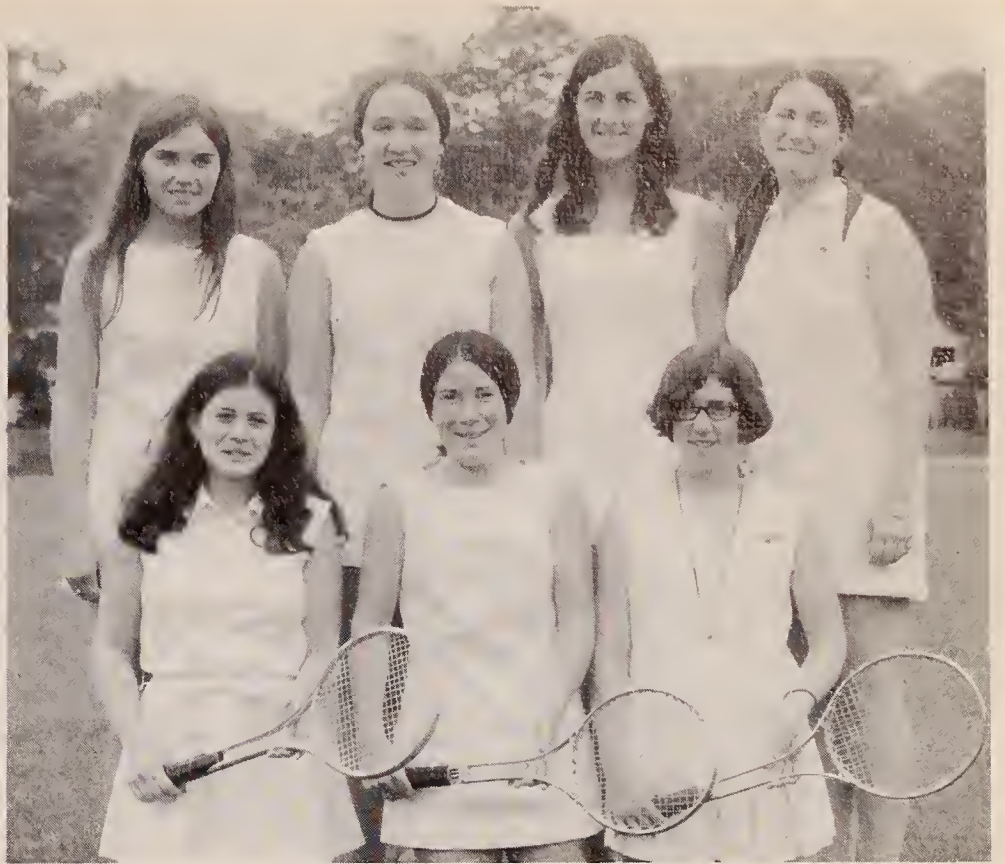

Then came the aldermanic hearing. For four hours we "extramural do-gooders" opposed those "Not-against-motherhood-and-the-flag-but's . . ." Many cigarettes and chewed nails later Freeport was voted permissive land use. We left city hall with the knowledge that our idea was finally real.

Sadly enough, the Freeport family has been restricted to one sex, but we enter our six-month trial period with the hope that it will become a real family soon.

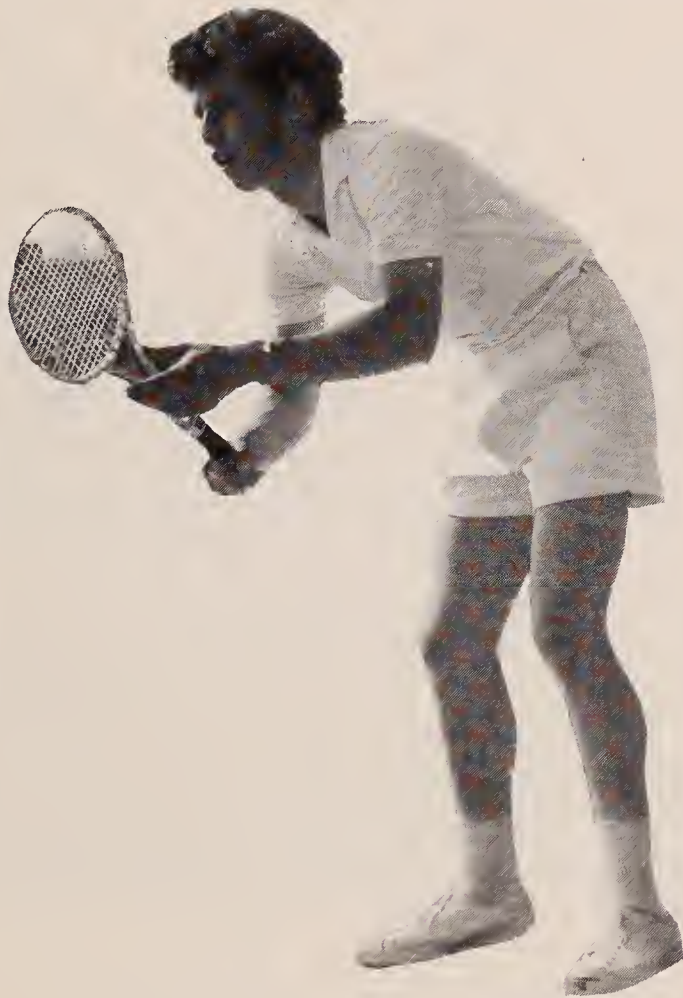

GIRLS' TENNIS

A two win, six loss tally completed the record for the girls' varsity tennis team this year. Much of the team's support came from Margie Bornstein, holding the No. 1 player spot, and Betsy Silver, playing as No. 2.

The team, composed almost entirely of seniors, will experience a tremendous turnover next spring. Miss Frazier, acting varsity coach, and junior-varsity coach Miss Zofrea are expecting a good spring for next year's team, and already the potential is there, as evidenced by the J.V.'s 4 win, 4 loss record.

*Front row: J. Hermanson; M. Bornstein, captain; B. Silver.

BOYS' TENNIS

Led all season long by the inspiration of Captain Mark Brass, NHS' male varsity tennis team earned the opportunity of playing in the state tournament. The fourth seeded Tigers, with a regular season mark of 10 wins, 5 losses, fought well till they were finally downed by the Concord team.

The only seniors on this year's team were second-singles player Mark Brass and second-doubles Rick Farian. With five of the seven players returning, and an excellent crop of J.V.'s coming up, next year should be exciting. (Hopefully the team will be able to get official regulation NHS' hair bands, so they will be able to see during the games.)

This spring's campaign was a surprising success, even though it was supposed to be nothing more than a rebuilding year. The Tigers came within two games of last year's Eastern Mass. Champs.

They finished 18-4, to share the Suburban League Title with Brockton. They fought their way to the semi-finals in the Eastern Mass. tourney before losing to New Bedford, 2-1.

Highlighting the year were the two wins over Waltham, both late-inning triumphs. Also rewarding was the performance of Junior Co-captain Jethro Mills, who was 8-1 as a pitcher and hit .350 during the regular season.

TRACK

Although Newton's dual meet record was not as impressive this year as in years before, they went into the big meets showing their best efforts.

After suffering disappointing losses both to New Bedford and Brockton, the Tigers rallied to take the Suburban League All-Star meet. Newton then went into the State Class A meet and racked up a total of 33 points, which would be good for a win any other year, but only second this year, as Needham scored 35.

Led by their co-captains throughout the season, Newton went into the State meet on a rainy Saturday and saw everything wash away as they could only manage to pick up one point, a 5th, from Junior sensation Al Boyer, who could well be the fastest runner Newton High has had.

The team was also fortunate to have two great co-captains in Steve Scrimshaw and Skip Fawson, considered by Coach Boyle to be two of Newton High's finest all round track athletes.

First row: S. Birdwell, G. Kamen, J. Grossman, C. Doolin, M. Simon, Co-captain R. Fawson, P. Prince, R. Wilkinson, G. Norcross, J. Fray, D. Penzer, Captain S. Scrimshaw, H. Graham, P. Yasigian, S. Ross. Second row: Coach L. Boyle, G. Manter, W. Lomax, P. Fair, F. Murphy, C. Stone, K. Reimann, R. Lehman, D. Douglas, D. Borden, A. Boyer, S. Fox, F. Linde, P. Demeo, K. Gorfinkle, R. Doherty, Coach R. Malone. Third row: Coach J. Paster, J. Reisman, R. Carleo, S. Haley, R. Womboldt, J. Alphin, R. Deats, S. Haley, R. Adler, J. Dunn, J. Doolin, A. Oros, J. Boates, R. O'Brien, P. Fryer, Coach M. Gallagher.

First row: K. Daniels, M. Jones, C. Levin, M. Soloman. Second row: R. Clark, S. McCarthy, P. Gillis, B. Megall, G. Reynolds, S. Hunter, G. Gardner, M. Volk.

The lacrosse team had a tremendous spring, winning twelve games, while losing only two. Under new coach Ross Parham, a former high school All-American goalie and coach at Harvard and at West Point, the team ran up huge scores against the private schools' J.V. teams like the 17-0 win over Rindge Tech.

The major offensive effort came from senior Co-Captain George Reynolds, who broke the goal record at NHS by scoring 30 goals. He came within two points of eclipsing the total points mark of 45.

GOLF

With Seniors Jerry Coleman and Steve Condon supplying a powerful one-two punch throughout the season, the NHS golf team stroked their way to a second place title in the Suburban League this spring.

Coach Ronayne has high hopes of attaining even greater titles next year. Varsity letter winners Jim Curtis, Rick Bove, and Jim Coleman will all be returning in the spring.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL

The NHS Tigresses pounced hard in the softball competition and returned to the locker room with very commendable records. The varsity team collected eight wins and only two losses. The JV team, on a smaller scale took in five games while dropping only one.

Varsity coach Carol Lukowicz and JV coach Judith Davidson kept their players hard at work, proven by the fact that almost all of the players received softball awards for the season.

Kneeling: T. Cutler, S. Martin, J. Brenner, S. Frizian, D. Horton, D. Reddy, A. Ruggiero (manager).
Standing: C. Hay, S. Atkinson, M. Drew, H. Paris, B. Mulcahy, K. Fay, C. Lukowicz (coach).

SENIOR PROM

... the smiles returning to the faces.
It's years since it's been clear.

I feel the ice so slowly melting.
It seems like years since it's been clear.
Here comes the sun, here comes the sun —
it's all right.

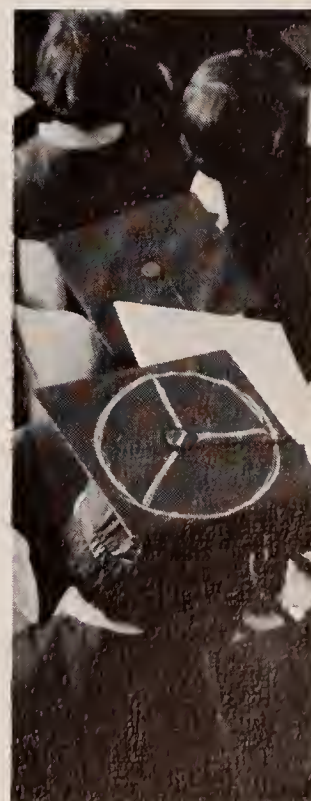

At graduation we came together from the many areas into which we had dispersed. As we have grown older and matured we have separated. We have become individuals often unable to communicate with each other, yet always aware of our own interdependence.

As we stood on our last day as students of NHS, we held a variety of memories: images of friends lounging on the grass during a spring lunch hour, perhaps, or of the frustrations of politics or poetry, of the noise and goodnatured sweat of the locker room after a well-won game; or maybe visions of endless Saturday nights with books, or out with the boys, or with the girls, or (more interestingly) with both. Some of us acted, others withdrew; we all shared a certain determination to bring these three years to their own particular and private fullness.

At graduation we were finally unified for a brief space of time. Together we took the last step, breaking the lingering ties to our high school years. The class of 1970 graduated, united only by its shared past, into now and tomorrow.

*"and the seasons they go round and round;
painted ponies go up and down;
we're captive on the carousel of time.
we can't return, we can only look behind from where we came and go round and round in the circle game."*

Dr. Edward Landy

Dr. Edward Landy has served the community of Newton unselfishly during his association with the city guidance department. Two of his numerous accomplishments have been the career guidance resource center and the Peabody School for emotionally disturbed and handicapped children. We wish him the best of luck and happiness in his retirement.

James Remley

His contributions to the Newton music department are immeasurable. As we say bood-bye to him this year we would also like to say thank-you to Mr. Remley for twenty-one years of hard work and dedication to the young people of Newton.
